

BONUS BILL TIED UP IN SENATE

Exemption Of Foodstuffs From Sales Tax Approved

INCOME TAX ALSO GIVEN OKAY TODAY

Steering Committee Nears Final Agreement for Balancing Budget

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—(UP)—Exemption of foodstuffs from a retail sales tax of 3 per cent was recommended today by the joint legislative steering committee as it approached final agreement on a program designed to balance the 1935-37 state budget.

An income tax rate one-fifth that of the federal levy also was approved by the committee. The assembly already has passed the Chatters bill which would collect one-third the federal rate, but committee members believed this amount was too high.

Final decision to shift automobile tax returns from cities and counties to the state marked the third outstanding development in the steering group today. Members per cent on the estimated cash voted, 11 to 2, to levy a tax of 1.75 value of automobiles, to collect approximately $18,000,000 biennially. This would be in lieu of the present city and county property tax on vehicles, and in addition to the $3 state license fee.

Additionally, the committee recommended:

Increased bank and corporation franchise taxes along the lines already approved by the assembly, to raise $17,000,000.

Increased inheritance taxes to 20 per cent, to raise $3,000,000.

Abolishment of the two mills on intangibles, in view of the proposed income tax which reaches intangibles.

These tax proposals, added to a liquor tax already approved would raise an estimated $91,000,000 biennially in new revenue. Approximately $68,000,000 is needed according to latest estimates, to balance the budget, although Governor Frank F. Merriam previously believed $95,500,000 would be required.

In approving a motion to raise the sales tax rate from 2 per cent to which point it is scheduled to drop July 1, to 3 per cent with essential food exempted, the committee estimated returns would total $129,000,000 biennially, or be expected under a 2 per cent rate nearly $28,000,000 more than could rate with no exemptions.

Members voted in favor of a bill by Assemblyman Charles A. Hunt, Los Angeles democrat, which provides for specific food exemptions.

A motion by Senator William F. Knowland, Alameda, to place the rate at 2 per cent without exemptions and adding an additional 1 per cent with food exempted was defeated 8 to 5. Senator W. P. Rich's motion to place the rate at 2 per cent without exemptions lost by the vote of 7 to 6. Members then voted 10

Gavin W. Craig, associate justice of the Second District Court of Appeals, Los Angeles, who was found guilty by a federal jury of charges of conspiring to impede justice.

JUSTICE CRAIG FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—Appellate Justice Gavin W. Craig and Joe Weinblatt, city hall politician, were convicted by a federal jury today of conspiring to impede justice in the prosecution of former officials in the Italo Petroleum Corporation mail fraud case.

Mrs. Helen Werner, former "Queen Helen" of city politics and the trial defendant, was acquitted.

The jury, which received the case late yesterday, deliberated seven hours before returning a verdict.

Mrs. Werner, a hysterical figure during the trial, burst into tears as the verdict was read. Her husband, Edwin P. Werner, former city attorney, rushed across the courtroom to congratulate her.

Justice Craig and Weinblatt accepted the verdict without display of emotion.

Defense Counsel Ames Peterson and Mark Herron immediately moved for a new trial for the two convicted men.

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie deferred setting a sentence date until after he rules on the motion.

The court granted the request of defense attorneys that the two be freed on bond, pending sentence.

The dual convictions were voted while federal authorities were investigating reports of possible "jury tampering."

The reports were based on information that an attorney, not connected with the trial, attempted to address one of the jurors yesterday.

A government attorney restrained the man. Previously, it was said, the attorney sought to reach the juror by telephone, informing the court bailiff it concerned a private business matter.

The three defendants were accused of conspiring to solicit money with which to "fix" federal indictments voted against former officials of the defunct petroleum firm.

At the trial, they contended the charges were engineered by political enemies.

It was the federal jury for the trial, after which the grand jury returned a new indictment.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO BUILD EXHIBIT

County Publicity Director Heads Group to Arrange Details for Fair

WITH AN appropriation of $3000 now made by the board of supervisors, plans were launched today for Orange county's exhibit in the California Pacific International Exposition.

A committee was named to aid V. D. Johnson, of Orange, county publicity director, in arranging details of the exhibit. Members of the committee include Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent; Secretary Howard I. Wood, of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Secretary Harry Welch of the Newport Chamber; Secretary George Reid of the Anaheim Chamber, Secretary Harry May of the Fullerton Chamber, and Walter Humphreys, of Fullerton.

Tomorrow afternoon this committee will meet with officials of Riverside county to discuss the layout of the exhibit, which will be staged jointly with Riverside. It is not yet known whether or not San Bernardino county will join in the display.

Friday morning the committee will journey to San Diego to look over the space available and decide on details of the exhibit.

Tentative plans being considered by the committee include featuring an oil painting six by 15 feet which would show Orange county's citrus groves, cities, oil wells, beaches, highways and other attractions. Brief sentences would surround the picture, telling of the amount of agricultural production here and other details of interest in the county. Wax fruit now on display in Irvine Park will be used in the exhibit, it was reported.

Present plans call for hiring one host or hostess to be in charge of the exhibit, to be paid jointly by the two counties. A reception room will be a feature of the exhibit.

Twin Sons Are Born to Mrs Richard Dix

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—(UP)—Twin sons were born today to Mrs. Richard Dix, wife of the film star. The boys weighed 6 pounds 9 ounces and 6 pounds 2 ounces respectively.

"I'm just twice as happy as I thought I would be," said Dix. She had finished production late last night on "The Arizona" for R-K-O studios, and took Mrs. Dix to Good Samaritan hospital when he returned home at 2 a. m. The children were born at 8:12 a. m. and 8:20 a. m.

Mrs. Dix was the former Virginia Webster, non-professional.

EXCAVATING AT NEW CITY HALL IS COMPLETED

Two Shifts of 50 Men Put to Work on Building; Concrete Poured

CONSTRUCTION work on Santa Ana's new $126,000 city hall at Third and Main streets got into full swing today, with 50 workmen employed by Ball and Honer, general contractors, working in two shifts upon the PWA project approved by the national government and sanctioned by an overwhelming vote of the Santa Ana public.

The excavation work was completed this morning and the big steam shovel operated for the past two weeks by the Foster Sand and Gravel company was removed from the site.

One hundred yards of concrete were poured in forms yesterday for foundation footings, and today a crew of workmen was busy building forms for additional footings, into which concrete will be poured Friday, according to Allison Honer, in charge of the construction work.

The scale of wages approved for Federal projects is in effect, varying from 56 1/2 cents to 87 1/2 cents per hour for unskilled labor, and varying from $1.10 to $1.25 for skilled workers. The 39-hour work week prevails on this job, as well as all other Federal projects.

As additional workmen were employed today, a double shift program was adopted. One crew starts work at 7 a. m. and works until 12. The afternoon shift starts work at 12:30 and quit at 5:30.

Part of the Ball and Honer force is working upon the vacant lot at Second and Bush streets, south of the Herbert Miller tire store, where 100,000 feet of lumber has already been received for the city hall job. A power saw will be operated at this site, and here also the large concrete mixer will be located.

First work on building forms for foundation walls for the new building was started today, with reinforcing steel on the ground ready to be placed in the forms at the proper time.

Reports Are Made Public At Meeting

Thirty Percent of Carpenters Absorbed in Private Construction

DIRECT evidence that unemployment in Orange county is steadily and surely decreasing was given in a report from W. J. Tway, acting director of Orange county SERA in the absence of Director Terrence Halloran, to members of the SERA committee yesterday afternoon.

Tway reported that 30 per cent of the carpenters on SERA have been absorbed in private construction work, which is starting to boom in this county. He said a steady movement of people normally employed in the construction industry back into private work has been taking place.

The evidence presented by Tway was further substantiated by M. L. Prestage, member of the committee and member of the carpenters' union, who said that practically every carpenter in his union is working.

Halt Projects

Another factor which pointed to the same condition was in a suggestion made by Tway that the committee should start thinking about stopping, at least temporarily, a number of SERA projects because of the shortage of manpower to work the projects. He suggested that only the good constructive projects be kept going under present conditions.

Yet another factor which indicated the growing amount of work in private industry and agriculture was the report that the number of cases on work relief has dropped from 4900 in February to 3250 at the present time.

And yet SERA has not separated all the agricultural workers from the relief roles who eventually will return to private work in the fields under an agreement between the SERA, the board of supervisors, the Farm Bureau and ranchers, who said their crops were being jeopardized because of the lack of workers.

EARHART HOPS OFF TODAY ON RECORD FLIGHT

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—(UP)—Amelia Earhart, America's ace woman flyer, took off today on a 16-hour, 2070-mile non-stop flight to Newark, N. J. airport.

It will be the first non-stop flight from the Mexican capital to the greater New York area.

Miss Earhart, heroine of two Atlantic flights, a return flight from Hawaii and a flight from Burbank, Calif., to Mexico City, took off at 6:10 a. m. (7:10 a. m. EST).

Her red Lockheed Vega monoplane, carrying more than 540 gallons of gasoline, started on a flight that will take her over a dangerous mountain range in Eastern Mexico and over 700 miles of the Gulf of Mexico from the vicinity of Tampico to a point between Corpus Christi, Tex., and New Orleans.

Miss Earhart had been waiting many days for good weather to make her take-off. Bad weather, particularly along the water stretch, had caused officials here to urge her to wait.

The American girl flyer arrived here April 20 after a flight of 1700 miles, in 13 1/2 hours, from California. On that flight she was forced to halt near the capital when a bug got in her eye.

Miss Earhart was advised that weather conditions were comparatively favorable over the entire route, but she expressed some doubt whether she would be able to reach New York unless winds were especially favorable. If winds cut down her fuel supply, she hopes to land at Washington.

She was advised that winds would be favorable as far as Louisiana, but from that area to New York she may encounter cross-winds or headwinds. She plans to fly at from 5000 to 5500 feet and probably at a speed of 120 miles an hour to conserve fuel.

Miss Earhart fully realized the difficulties of her undertaking—an aviation feat never before accomplished and even more difficult than Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Washington to Mexico City non-stop flight.

For that reason, she waited for the best possible weather and, around midnight, communicated by telephone with her husband, George Palmer Putnam, in New York. Putnam had consulted with Dr. James H. Kimball, New York aviation weather expert, and advised Miss Earhart of conditions along the route.

EARLY VETO DELAYED BY SEN. THOMAS

President Makes Clear at Press Conference That He Will Act Soon

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 8.—(UP)—The Patman bonus bill was tied up in the senate today by a maneuver designed to protect it from a speedy presidential veto. That might catch its supporters off guard.

Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., directed the movement as a means of delaying action until several Patmanites can be present to vote to override the certain veto.

WASHINGTON, May 8. (UP)—President Roosevelt indicated today at a press conference that he might not wait his allotted 10 days to veto the Patman bonus bill.

Mr. Roosevelt, by inferential answers to questions, made clear that he intended to veto the bill. But there never had been any doubt about that.

Bill is Delayed

The bonus bill may not reach the White House for two or three days. After he receives it, the president will have a maximum of 10 days, not counting Sundays, to send it back to congress with a message explaining why he disapproves.

Although the Legion had supported the more orthodox Vinson bill, the din of the final senate roll call approving the Patman bill had hardly died when Frank N. Belgrave, national commander, announced the Legion's full support was behind the Patman measure.

Leaders conceded the house probably will override the veto, but said they were "certain" of enough votes to block a two-thirds majority necessary for similar action in the senate. They anticipated a veto within the next 10 days.

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson said:

"I don't believe the senate will override a veto. The vote on the Patman bill indicates that."

The vote on the Patman bill calling for payment of $250,000,000 to veterans in printing press money was 55 to 33, four short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

Sen. Pat Harrison, chairman of the finance committee, whose compromise proposal was defeated earlier in the day, obviously was pleased by the outcome of a day of preliminary maneuvering.

"In my opinion," he said, "this action kills all hope of any bonus this session. I haven't a doubt in the world the president will veto this bill. When he does, the senate will sustain his veto."

"We have at least 35 votes to check any attempt to override him."

The bill will not be sent to the White House for possibly two days. A motion to reconsider the vote, made by Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., automatically stayed delivery to the White to the senate.

Clark has two days to call up his motion for action. Robinson said, however, that Clark would not call it up, Clark said he wanted "two days to think it over."

LEADER OF CUBAN REVOLT IS SLAIN

MATANZAS, Cuba, May 8.—(UP)—Dr. Antonio Gutierrez, leader of the "Young Cuba" revolutionary party, was killed today in a battle with combined army and navy forces.

Angel Gonzalez, chief of staff of the navy, announced two others also were killed, an army corporal Jose Fernandez, and an unidentified civilian. Eight were taken prisoners.

Gutierrez has long been hunted by the government as a dangerous revolutionist. He was accused of complicity in the recent kidnapping of Eutimio Falla Bonnett, wealthy Cuban, who paid $300,000 ransom.

L. A. EPIC PARTY SUFFERS DEFEAT

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—The EPIC party suffered almost complete defeat in yesterday's elections for city councilmen, members of the board of education and municipal judges, returns indicated today.

Incomplete, unofficial returns gave non-EPIC candidates seven of the 11 seats on the city council. EPIC candidates for two councilmanic seats were probably far enough in the lead to be assured of the election, but the two remaining council races were neck and neck for EPICs and non-EPICs.

In the board of education race, it appeared that the "security" group would be elected by a wide margin. The "security" ticket took an early lead over the EPIC candidate in early counting and maintained it throughout.

LATE FLASHES

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(UP)—Leaders of the senate veterans' bloc, alarmed at indications that a presidential veto of the Patman bonus bill would be sustained, revealed today that they were considering a compromise proposal that might survive White House rejection.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(UP)—Sen. Warren R. Austin, R., Vt., charged in the senate today that "defalcations, excessive expenditures and violations of the law" have been evident in administration of the Tennessee valley authority act.

EMERGENCY RELIEF MEDICAL PLAN, APPROVED BY SERA, TO BENEFIT OVER 4000 FAMILIES

STATE ERA approval of the Orange County Emergency Relief which is expected to mutually benefit more than 4000 families on relief roles in the county and members of the medical profession.

The medical plan, approved by the board of managers of the Orange County Medical Society and sent on to state headquarters by the Orange county SERA, has been approved by the state ERA. The Register learned today.

Dr. Leland W. Davy, state director of the ERA medical division, will be in Santa Ana next week to arrange details of the plan, it was learned.

The program in no way will supersede or replace the present county program for medical care. It is intended to supplement the present county medical facilities available to persons receiving relief because of unemployment, from SERA. In general, it is intended to provide necessary medical care for persons who would ordinarily secure the services of a physician if he were not unable to pay for such services.

A medical committee to advise the ERA shall be composed of a representative of the board of supervisors, the medical association, dental association, SERA committee, pharmacists' association and the Orange County SERA medical director, who will preferably be a physician employed full time, or a graduate nurse with social work experience, or a trained case worker with medical social work experience.

The function of the committee is to assist in formulating a program for medical care for clients of SERA. The committee will meet each month or oftener.

Medical care will not ordinarily be authorized by relief administrators for conditions that do not cause acute suffering, interfere with earning capacity, endanger life or threaten some permanent new handicap that is preventable where medical care is sought.

Medical care may be prescribed for patients on unemployment relief, by any person licensed to practice as a physician and surgeon in California, if such patients are ill to attend any available clinic and are not proper subjects for hospitalization. Office service may be given to ambulatory patients.

Clients will be referred to the family physician, if that physician has agreed to participate in the program. When the client has no preference, referral will be in rotation to the nearest physician accepting the program. A file of physicians who have agreed to participate in the program will be maintained in the office of the SERA. Orange county SERA will guarantee payment of all authorized cases.

"DIME" LETTERS BRANDED ILLEGAL

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(UP)—The postoffice department reiterated today that there was nothing legal about 10-cent chain letter schemes.

The chain letter business, said Solicitor General Karl Crowley, violates the federal lottery statutes and sending such letters through the mails makes the sender liable to fines and prison sentences.

The scheme also violates postal fraud laws, he said, because it cannot possibly work out as the letter writers maintain.

EPIC CANDIDATE DEFEATED IN NORTH

OAKLAND, May 8.—(UP)—Final tally of yesterday's city election showed Kenneth Morie, EPIC candidate for city councilman at large, had been defeated by Dr. John F. Slavich, incumbent, 20,700 to 12,822. The contest was the only one in the city elections in which an EPIC candidate was entered.

Berkeley's mayor, Edward N. Ament and four incumbent councilmen were re-elected.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 8.—(To the Editor of The Register:—) My old flying partner Frank Hawkes breezed in here from Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 48 flying hours. Think of Buenos Aires being only two days away. Air lines just coming in or out of Los Angeles alone have flown 243 million miles, carrying 1,900,000 passengers. Accidents to passengers have been less than one to 25,000 that travel. That "old devil" fog is tough. Not only on aeroplanes, but ships, autos, horseback or afoot. But planes will be the first thing to lick it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BOARD SIGNS REQUEST FOR STREET WORK

The county supervisors yesterday signed the application to SERA for the South Main street extension project, estimates of labor required being boosted in the application to more than $300,000.

Previously it had been reported that the application would call for approximately $200,000 for labor. The state has appropriated $12,000 for culverts, and the county will supply supervision for the work. Constables of the county have exceeded their $1800 budget for the year by approximately $300, in connection with allowance for the transportation of prisoners, the supervisors were informed late yesterday by Chief Deputy Auditor Leslie Eckel, who asked whether the board wished to approve demands from constables for amounts above the $1800 budgeted.

The board decided to authorize payment of the demands, planning to make changes in the budget for the next fiscal year. A motion by Supervisor N. E. West yesterday that the mileage rate allowed constables be reduced from 9 cents to 4 1/2 cents, the rate allowed for operation of other county cars, failed to get a second.

Ask New Camp
A resolution offered by Supervisor Willard Smith was passed, requesting SERA approval of a proposal to establish a work camp for single men residents in this county, the camp to be capable of housing 200 men. The board had received informal assurance from local SERA officials that the request would receive favorable consideration, it was said.

Resignation of R. W. Phillips, as superintendent of the Orange County Water Works No. 4 district at Garden Grove, was accepted by the board, which appointed W. M. Cook as his successor at a salary of $75 per month.

Francisco Torres, of La Habra, was refused a license to operate a pool room there, the sheriff and district attorney having failed to approve his application.

Home Economist To Demonstrate At Horton Store

Bess Meals, noted home economist of the General Electric company, will be in Santa Ana again Thursday afternoon to stage a special cooking demonstration in the all-electric model kitchen in the J. C. Horton Furniture company store, Sixth and Broadway. It was announced today by C. L. Horton.

Miss Meals will make her third appearance in Horton's Thursday afternoon. According to L. A. Gowdy, manager of the electrical department at Horton's, it is unusual for the home economist to make so many visits to one city within such a short time.

The demonstration tomorrow afternoon will start at 2 o'clock.

A. A. U. W. PLANS BENEFIT FOR STUDENT FUND

Interest in the annual benefit for the Santa Ana Junior College Loan Fund, which is sponsored by the American Association of University Women, was expressed today by the Student Loan committee, through E. E. Nealley, chairman. The benefit is planned for Saturday afternoon, May 11, at the Elbell club. The affair has been arranged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Grace M. Knipe. Reservations for the benefit may be made by telephone with Mrs. Milton V. Newcomer, 1133 South Van Ness street.

The University Women's Association has been a consistent contributor to the Student Loan Fund, according to D. K. Hammond, Director of Santa Ana Junior College and member of the loan committee. According to the records, the Association has contributed a total of $600 between 1927 and January 1935. Since the fund was established in 1921, 120 loans have been made up to January, 1935 for a total amount of $19,419.97, according to Mr. Hammond.

"Every year the fund makes it possible for about a dozen worthy young men or women who have demonstrated their special talents and worth to continue their training beyond the junior college level. Every case is carefully studied by the committee, and an attempt is made to place the student in a college or university adapted to his special needs. Last year, for example, one young man, an orphan, who showed special skill in all scientific subjects, was helped to go to the University of California, arrangements being made for part-time employment. During his first semester there, in spite of the fact that he was working for his own support, twenty-four hours a week, he made A's in three advanced Science courses and a B in French. It is a keen regret on the part of the committee that all contributors to the fund cannot become acquainted with the individual students aided and follow them throughout their careers," said Hammond.

RECEPTION IS GIVEN BY KING TO DIPLOMATS

LONDON, May 8.—(UP)—"I pray God that the unity of purpose which brought you here together today may be a symbol of enduring peace in the world at large," King George told diplomatists whom he received today at St. James' palace.

The reception was the second event of the jubilee celebration of the king's 25th year on the throne. He and Queen Mary motored the 200 yards from Buckingham palace to St. James' without any protection. Their car, and two following ones which held members of the royal household, moved through a great mass of people who lined The Mall and in the absence of police or soldier cordons, pressed so close that the cars brushed the clothing of those in front as they went slowly along.

King George wore the uniform of an admiral of the fleet. He carried his hat in his hand and bowed and smiled to the crowds. The queen wore a powder blue and silver gown.

The royal reception was held in the white and gold decorated throne room of the old palace.

Besides members of the diplomatic corps, dominion prime ministers and representatives were present. The 55-year-old field marshal, the Duke of Connaught, the king's uncle, was cheered heartily, as, wearing ordinary business clothes, he entered the palace.

Dr. Reus De Oliveira, Brazilian ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, felicitated the king on his reign. The king, in an informal, friendly speech, said:

"It is a pleasure to me and, I hope, a happy augury for the future, that envoys from every quarter of the globe are assembled here in amity and good will."

"I have heard it rumored amongst my colleagues that my capital is a greatly coveted post."

16 GIRLS WILL GET DIPLOMAS AT HOSPITAL

For the first time in several years, the June class of graduates from Orange County General Hospital School of Nursing, will be composed of California girls alone. Invitations to the graduating exercises to be held Tuesday night, May 14, have just been issued and these are not a single out-of-state name on the list of 16 graduates.

Exercises are to be held according to custom, in the Orange Women's clubhouse, beginning at 8 o'clock. No formal program for the evening has been announced. Miss Margaret Hess is the only graduate from Santa Ana. Purlerton also is represented by but one nurse, Miss Ella Mary Middleton. Anaheim and Artesia each boasts two on the list, the Misses Claire Catherine Codman and Shirley Bernice Criss from the former, and the Misses Margaret Ella Nickell and Lenore Amelia Terrell of Artesia. Bakersfield also has sent two students to the local school, the Misses Virginia Lorraine Cameron and Vivienne Vassili Watson.

Others on the graduating list are the Misses Vivian Myrtle Bradbury, Hermosa Beach; Claire Elaine Garrett, Fresno; Thelma Alleen MacKinnon, Three Rivers; Nancy Emily Moore, Venice; Edene Elinor Paige, Lomita; Eleanor Beatrix Post, Carlsbad; Evelyn Margaret Prindle, Los Angeles; and Jeanne Greenwood Triplett, Whittier.

MOTHER'S DAY OBSERVED BY KIWANIS CLUB

Honoring their mothers and wives, members of Santa Ana Kiwanis club met in James' cafe this afternoon to enjoy a special "Mother's Day" program. Harry Westover, who acted as program chairman of the day, opened the program with a short talk on mothers and the part they play in the lives of men. He read several poems dedicated to mothers.

Members of the club and guests joined in singing the traditional "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" which features every meeting of the Kiwanis club when their wives or mothers are guests.

Music for the program was furnished by the Santa Ana Junior college trumpet quartet, comprised of Leland Auer, director of music at the college, Harold Lutes, Robert Kelly and Harold Christensen.

A clever one-act comedy, "Antiques," was presented by a group from the Santa Ana Community Players. Members of the cast included Katherine Barr, Lorene Hanson, John Colwell, J. Leslie Steffensen and Lois Rees Auer, who also directed.

Fred Newcom announced the annual fishing party to be held at Azusa on May 22. Otto Haan, vice president of the club, presided.

JUSTICE CRAIG INQUEST JURY FOUND GUILTY HOLDS DEATH OF CONSPIRACY DUE TO SUICIDE

The jurors refused to comment on their findings.

A short time before they announced them, they asked Judge Briggs for additional instructions. The court replied that the request should be written. Without waiting to comply with the instructions, the jury then announced it had reached a decision.

Mrs. Werner smiled through her tears at being exonerated.

"Thank God, I'm vindicated," she said.

Lac, jail matron, told of finding the body upon her return from court when making her regular rounds of the women's department.

Among the spectators was J. H. Wells of Carlsbad, father of the dead woman.

Betty and Barbara, twin daughters of Mildred Wells, were being cared for today by their grandmother, Mrs. Laura B. Wells of 306 South Sycamore street. Mildred Wells' death in the county jail late Monday afternoon was suicidal, resulting from strangulation with a strip of cloth torn from a nightgown, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury which investigated the case today.

The verdict was announced at noon, upon completion of the inquest held at the Smith and Tut-till mortuary in charge of Coroner Earl Abbey.

Identification witness was Frances Wells-Tucker, sister of Mildred. C. W. Wolford and Edith Gallup testified to their arrest of the prisoner on an intoxication charge at South Main and Pine streets. Jailer Theo. Lac told of the disturbance created when the prisoner was taken to the jail, and Mrs. Theo. Lac, jail matron, told of finding the body upon her return from court when making her regular rounds of the women's department.

Among the spectators was J. H. Wells of Carlsbad, father of the dead woman. Betty and Barbara, twin daughters of Mildred Wells, were being cared for today by their grandmother, Mrs. Laura B. Wells of 306 South Sycamore street. Frances Tucker and Marguerite Wells, sisters of Mildred, also make their home there. Another sister, Hazel Shampang, lives in Oregon, and a brother, Donald Wells, partner in a feed store at West Fourth and Pacific streets, lives with his family at 1720 West Ninth street.

Kirby Page, speaking before the Santa Ana Valley Forum at the Elbell club last night, declared it was not necessary to travel the "Moscow road" of the dictatorship of the working classes, founded by violence in order to preserve the democratic institutions of the United States and to achieve a greater security for all the people of the country.

He stated that as the successor of the dying capitalistic system there were four alternatives, a policy of drifting, Fascism, Communism and Socialism. He said that the most likely immediate outcome will be a tendency to drift, and possibly the ultimate result will be a form of Fascism. Page outlined a program of a peaceful solution of the present conditions in the United States, and said that he favored having three kinds of property, with the general consuming goods such as food, clothing, shelter, furniture and equipment of that nature privately owned. Then the big industries, including banking, the sources of electric energy, transportation and communication, he would have owned by the government, and the rest would be experimented with, that is, the small scale production and the distributive trade.

Program Suggested
He suggested a program of education and organization and social pressure to achieve the change from the present conditions to the ideal which he outlined. He declared that a powerful labor movement and consumer co-operative movement would help to get control of the government and by using the power of eminent domain and peaceable purchase and payment the big industries and utilities should be socialized.

He stated that he favored not the confiscation of these properties, but the purchase of them by the government from their present owners. Then he would have the government utilize to the nth degree the power of taxation. Page stated that he believed capitalism was dying, and the reason was due to three diseases which attacked it, maldistribution of purchasing power, the inefficient use of natural resources and the wastage due to conflict and warfare.

Lack Buying Power
"Half of the people of this land do not have purchasing power to buy that which is essential to a decent livelihood," he said. "Even in 1929, according to the Brookings Institute, which is a very conservative institution, 40 per cent of the people lived in homes that were below the standard of decency and health. This in the face of more idle money than this nation has ever had, and the volume is getting bigger and bigger. According to the Federal Reserve board, the amount of idle money in the United States is $12,000,000,000. The Bankers' Association Journal declared that most bankers are spending most of their time trying to find somebody to whom they can and dare to lend money.

He said that he was opposed to Communism because he did not believe in the method of violence proposed by its adherents, with its attendant civil war, dictatorship and tyranny. He declared he was opposed to the Fascism procedure which is foretold by increasing misery, its decreasing ability to take care of misery, higher taxes and less ability to pay taxes, more demands upon the holders of privilege and power, which finally resulted in a dictatorship of the owners of the property.

BOY INJURED AS TRUCK RUNS WILD

Daniel Lemus, 11, of Westminster, was in the hospital today because he resorted to the old-time practice of helping to push an automobile up a hill.

When a light truck driven by George Gonbales, 42, had difficulty in negotiating the El Modena grade yesterday afternoon, while taking flowers to a cemetery in Santiago canyon, some of the occupants got out to lend a hand.

Lemus fell and the rear wheel ran over him. He was taken to the county hospital, where today he was receiving treatment for a dislocated shoulder, and painful cuts and bruises about the face, head and shoulders.

COMPLICATION ARISES ON NEW SHOP BUILDING

When W. B. French, state inspector on the newly completed Lathrop shop building, informed the board of education last night that he could not sign the customary affidavit affirming that the new structure was built according to plans and specifications, because some of the work had been done on Sunday, unknown to him, and he was informed that there is only one coat of plaster where the specifications call for two, the board grew wary and fixed some strings to its acceptance of the building.

On motion of Ridley Smith, the board voted to instruct the chairman and secretary to sign an acceptance of the new building when both the architect and inspector have made affidavits as to its proper construction, according to plans and specifications, and when "all guarantees and bonds are delivered to the board."

Not only was he in doubt as to the plastering, but also he could not affirm the chemical analysis of the floor, French said. Any affidavit he would make must contain reservations regarding those two points, he said.

A sub-contractor had handled the plastering job one Sunday while the inspector was not on duty, it was stated at the meeting.

Another construction problem that the board encountered last night was the refusal of Architects Allison and Allison to approve laboratory tables for the new science building at the High School, construction of which was awarded on a sub-contract to the Barr Lumber company, of Santa Ana.

The architect's specifications require tables of "material, workmanship and design" equal to the product of certain eastern manufacturers of such equipment.

Various board members, after C. G. Ward, of the Barr company, had called the matter to their attention, expressed not only a wish to turn the business to a local concern, but also the belief that the architects would probably not take an arbitrary stand against the Santa Ana concern, if they should inspect the Barr plant and the type of work it turns out.

The matter therefore was delayed for a week, while the architect is consulted.

Complaint Heard
Mrs. Kate Measor, of Delhi, appeared before the board to complain that the Delhi school principal "has it in for her," and recently allowed fire started by school children to destroy 12 acres of hay, "from which I get my taxes to pay her big salary," complained the woman. She asked that the principal be removed. Secretary George Newcom was instructed to investigate the report.

Commencement Speakers Announced

Prof. Charles Frederick Lindsley, of Occidental college, will deliver the commencement address at Santa Ana high school, on the afternoon of June 14; Dr. James W. Fifield, pastor of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles, will deliver the junior college commencement address that evening; and the Rev. Robert McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Orange, will preach the baccalaureate sermon for the junior college June 9, it was announced last night when the board of education approved arrangements for the events mentioned.

The high school baccalaureate speaker, who will be selected by the Santa Ana Ministerial union, has not yet been announced.

New Course Adopted
Santa Ana Junior college course will not have to hitch-hike to Fullerton Junior college next year to get their bacteriology course planned by Dean Flek, the board authorized such a course for next year. It is needed in connection with nursing courses.

M. B. Youel and Ridley Smith were named as a committee to investigate the matter of establishing a meteorology station atop one of the school buildings, for junior college students. They are now using the Farm Bureau equipment, located on the lawn at the courthouse annex.

The board last night approved school warrants for April expenditures, and received a cafeteria report covering the entire term up to April 1, and showing a net loss of $77.72 in operation of the high school and two junior high school cafeterias. Willard cafeteria showed a profit of $23.69, but Lathrop reported a loss of $72.77, and the high school cafeteria lost $27.64.

Santa Ana Chapter No. 73, R. A. M., will confer the Past Master's Degree Thurs. May 9th at 7:30 p. m. All Royal Arch Masons invited. Refreshments.

ASSEMBLY BODY OPPOSES GAME GO TO CAPITAL FISH PRESERVE ON FLOOD PLAN

Further action on the fish preserve bill for Orange county's coast line was considered doubtful today, following word from Sacramento that the assembly fish and game committee had refused approval of the measure.

The bill, which was designed to establish a game fish sanctuary along the entire Orange county coast, was drawn up by Assemblyman James B. Uhl, and introduced to the assembly by Speaker Ted Craig. It had the backing of communities and civic groups along the county coast.

A representative committee from Orange county was present at last night's meeting of the assembly committee, including Mayors Tom Talbert, Huntington Beach; Frank Champion, Laguna Beach; A. T. Smith, San Clemente; and Elmer Hughes, Seal Beach. Others on the committee were David K. Kinney, San Clemente; Leslie F. Kimmell, Laguna Beach; Harry Welch, Balboa; G. W. McGinitie, Corona Del Mar, and representatives of several inland towns.

Speaking on the behalf of commercial fishermen, Assemblyman Fred Reaves of San Pedro said that "year by year commercial fishing has been restricted, and this is just another step in that direction."

In answer to this argument Craig pointed out that only eight miles of the state's 800-mile coast line was closed to commercial fishing, and that "the working people should be entitled to some fishing."

After hearing arguments on the bill for the second time, the committee went into executive session and later announced the bill had failed to receive a favorable vote.

U.S.C. CAGERS MAY MAKE EASTERN TOUR

BERKELEY, May 8.—(UP)—Negotiations today were under way to send the University of California's basketball squad on an eastern campaign next winter. Kenneth Priestly, public relations director, said games were being discussed with officials of several eastern colleges. The trip would include a number of games in New York City, it was understood.

ETCHEVERRY TO GO TO CAPITAL ON FLOOD PLAN

Orange county's flood control project will be accompanied to Washington by Prof. B. A. Etcheverry, of the University of California at Berkeley, the county's engineering consultant, it was announced by Chairman John Mitchell, of the county board of supervisors, following a conference here yesterday between the board and Prof. Etcheverry.

The engineer will reach Washington May 13 and represent the county there in connection with matters relating to approval of the flood control project by PWA. He will keep the board advised of progress, it was stated.

Mitchell said that the supervisors felt the need of a technical expert on the ground to meet any engineering questions that may be raised by the government in connection with the local project. This, he said, was regarded as of utmost importance to the fate of the project, which is expected to be under consideration shortly by PWA.

The $11,600,000 project recently was reported to be holding second position among California public works projects, next to the central water project in line for consideration. Detailed plans and specifications were filed with PWA headquarters in Los Angeles last week.

NEW RESIDENCE PERMITS HERE TOTAL $109,800

The twenty-sixth residential building permit of the year for Santa Ana—only one less than for the entire 12 months of last year—was issued yesterday by City Building Inspector S. L. Preble.

It went to A. M. Stauffer, covering construction of a frame and stucco residence and garage at 1415 North Bristol street, to cost $4600. The contractor is the Pacific Construction company.

The Stauffer permit brings the total cost of new residence construction to date in Santa Ana up to $109,800. Modernization permits issued the past two days include the following: Mrs. Parks, owner, Owen Roofing, builder, re-roof at 811 Lowell, $45. Albert F. Smith, re-roof at 1119 East Fourth, $85. Grand Central Market, alterations at 208 West Second, $100.

RAMIFICATION

Recent confusing moves on the bonus are likely to become more confusing before they get simpler. This because several of the most influential forces behind the bonus have a planned strategy. They have been working on it for the past few weeks. The bill, approved by the Vinson bill, approved by the American Legion. The house will drop the Patman bill, approved by the veterans of Foreign wars. The Vinson bill will then be finally adopted by congress and promptly vetoed by President Roosevelt. His veto will be sustained by the senate, where the Harrison compromise will be taken up, adopted by congress and approved by the president.

It may not work out exactly this way, but that is the scheme. Essentially, the idea is to make Mr. Roosevelt veto an unacceptable bill before congress approves an acceptable bill.

DUALISM
Some of you innocent people who do not know politics may wonder why congress does not enact the compromise at once, and save all that time and worry. Things are never done here that way.

This strategy is essentially the same as that used by Tom Sawyer to escape from his aunt's wash. To walk out the front door would be too easy. An escape, to be dignified, must look hard. Also you must not forget that political prestige attaches to a congressman who stands for a bill sponsored by the active veterans' organizations. Later the same congressman may stand in with the president by voting to sustain his veto. Thus he gets the prestige of supporting the veterans and the president simply by voting both ways on the same issue. That has been done before.

POWER
There seems to be some slight difference of inner opinion as to whether the president will have his bonus veto sustained by the senate. A few senators apparently believe the Vinson bill might be passed over a veto.

The exact situation on this was summed up by a wise old senatorial owl, who said: "If a president who controls four billion dollars of relief expenditures cannot win more than one-third of the senate on any issue, he is too dumb to be president."

PARTY
The big third party rally here turned out to be a meeting of the sixteenth or seventeenth party instead of the third.

Four left wing congressmen organized the meeting "without publicity" also because no one of political importance attended. The official estimate is that a throng of 75 persons was present to launch the new party.

Some of the liberal senators started to attend but decided not to. Six house members finally showed up, including the four who organized the new party and two congenial friends.

The issue does not mean a thing politically. The meeting never had a chance because no one or pulling power (like Coughlin, Long, Olsen) was identified with it.

SHOW
The best show in town now is the Glass sub-committee hearing on the bank bill. There the unconstructed rebel, Senator Glass, holds forth daily at his best. He answers all questions whether or not they are addressed to him, and forcefully rules the roost. He acts as chairman, witness, cross-examiner, spoofing banker witnesses for their failure to have read the bill, spoofing the administration for having proposed it. This riles other members of the sub-committee who squirm in their chairs and keep silent with difficulty. They realize this is the Glass inning and they will have their later when they outvote him.

DIPLOMACY
Great Britain's diplomatic antics lately have caused some authorities to surmise that she will abandon her traditional position as the balance of power in Europe. None of the state department authorities here have been fooled into that assumption.

The real reasoning behind current British policy is the same which has motivated her for centuries. She wants to keep any single group of powers from becoming too strong in Europe and thus threatening her own position.

The defiant German submarine and airship policy has forced Britain to let Hitler think she is about to join forces with France and Russia. Authentic diplomatic advice here says her purpose is to try to get Hitler back into the family of nations with some reasonable evidence of his sincere desire to join in a peace agreement.

Once that evidence is forthcoming, Britain will have right over to Germany's side and start championing Hitler's equality of rights.

NEW YORK
By James McMullen

GRATEFUL

The purpose behind that chamber of commerce explosion against the New Deal was to give the Republicans—and especially Republican newspapers all over the country—something to chew on. Business men serving as backstage engineers of a G.O.P. comeback in '36 got tired of waiting for the party's political leaders to frame a coherent plan of attack and thought they'd start something on their own. Tons of stored-up resentment burning in industrial breasts made this an easy trick to turn—despite twelve-hour efforts by Henry I. Harriman and other chamber of commerce moderates to salvage something from the mess.

New York conservatives wholeheartedly sympathize with the chamber's sentiments but many of them query its wisdom. Shrewd observers are convinced that the New Deal's critics—by flying off the handle so completely—have handed FDR a gorgeous opportunity to win back his wavering left wing support and that he is making and will make the most of it.

Moreover the chamber has saddled itself with responsibility for busting up the alleged cooperation between government and business—dead letter though it has been for months—thus giving the president a perfect excuse for ignoring its wishes completely in future. Political sharps here believe that any Republican gain from crystallization of issues will be more than offset by revived loyalty to the New Deal on the part of those who have been getting impatient with its slowness to deliver. Some of FDR's severest critics remark that he should certainly be grateful to his enemies.

POLITICIAN
Not that the dummies—if it turns out to be that—is all on one side. It's true that many members of Secretary Roper's business planning and advisory council rallied nobly to the White House banner and helped dispel any impression of business solidarity on the NRA and social security issues. But otherwise the department of commerce has hardly distinguished itself in its relations with industry.

Some time ago the department sought advice as to how it could get on a friendlier footing with business. The New Yorker who was asked to prescribe learned to his amazement that it had virtually no contact with the chamber of commerce. He recommended that something be done at once to rectify this oversight. The department tried and found its awakening came too late. Its advances were ignored.

Comment runs that that's what comes of naming a politician—no matter how clever Roper is in his own field—to run the agency which has most to do with the delicate job of promoting collaboration with industry.

PLAINTIVE
The White House is easily winning its silent tug of war with the committee for the nation and the farm groups who want the Goldborough amendment—commanding the federal reserve board to manage the price level—incorporated in the banking act. The amendment's supporters are hanging grimly to their end of the rope—but their chances are as slim as a wasp's waist.

COURAGE
The unusual political courage of the late Senator Cutting was little known because he was an unobtrusive individual without the customary talent of politicians for speaking about themselves. He operated a newspaper out in New Mexico which was once bitterly fighting a rival paper. His editor published front page editorials denouncing the rival for printing secret senate business. When Senator Cutting found out about it, he wired his editor ordering his paper to take exactly the same position as the rival. He wanted to advocate the publication of all senate business, even though it hurt his own business.

BANKERS
An influential banker sided up to an administration man a few days ago and suggested the bankers might come out in favor of the new bank bill if a few changes were made.

"No," said the New Dealer. "It will be all right to make some changes, but if the senate ever thought that the bankers of the country were in favor of this bill, we would never set it passed. We would rather have you opposed to it."

The administration made no move until it became apparent that the potential dynamite was likely to be reported favorably by the house banking and currency committee. Then all it did was to pass the word quietly that it wasn't pleased at the idea.

LEFTISTS
New York's May day celebrations gave indications of a significant change in left-wing political alignments. Carl Brodsky—communist leader—deplored the division between socialists and communists and pleaded for a united front next year. An important sector of the Socialist party agrees with him.

On the other hand Louis Waldman—right wing Socialist and chairman of the party in New York—was eloquent about the growth of trade union membership—a direct bid for a tie-up with the Federation of Labor.

The anti-Green element in the federation is understood to be responsive to this idea.

Informal observers foresee the formation of a new radical party embracing the communists and about half the socialists—and of the socialists (under another label) and thousands of recruits from organized labor. The first might make a lot more noise than the communists do now—but would still be politically impotent. The second might become a really important factor by hooking up with LaFollette, Floyd Olson and/or left

WEED CLEANING CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN FRIDAY

Santa Ana's municipal weed-cleaning program, in charge of the city engineering department, is due to get under way Friday morning, it was announced today.

Vacant lots which have not been cleared by their owners when the city crews arrive, will be cleaned by the city force and the cost charged against the property.

The municipal employees will require about six weeks to complete the weed cleaning campaign. It was predicted, and at that time all lots in the city will have been cleaned.

Gene Heise, city inspector, is in direct charge of the weed eradication program, and today issued a call for all workers who wish to secure employment in this work to report at the city yards on West first street at 8 a. m. or 1 p. m. Friday.

Workers who will be given employment include teamsters equipped with horses and plows, and hand workers who will wield hoes and rakes. Each lot will be contracted for, it was said, workers will be paid by the city, and the city will be reimbursed by property owners either by cash payment or in connection with tax bills, according to the plan announced.

PROBE BERGDOLL KIDNAP THREATS

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—UP—While federal agents investigated kidnapping threats against her four grand children, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, 74-year old mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, denied today that she had received extortion letters.

"I haven't heard anything about kidnapping, but if anybody starts any funny business I can take care of them," she said. "I get a lot of letters but I don't read any of them."

"I suppose some of them come from cranks, but there is nothing in them about kidnapping. There are no policemen or detectives in the house. I can take care of myself."

R. George Harvey, head of the federal bureau of investigation office here, said he had assigned a man to the case.

Wife Bides Time To Make Claim On Property Rights
Mrs. Mary Harrel Williams, in filing suit for divorce yesterday in superior court against Arthur S. Williams, New York inventor who has not yet "arrived" said she does not want a decree as to property rights at present, but prefers to wait until some future time, to see what develops from the Williams inventions. She thinks they will be of great value, she stated.

For 10 years, she added, she protected these inventions by advancing her husband funds from her separate estate, the couple having lived upon the income from her estate for that time.

She charged that Williams has been guilty of habitual intemperance for the last five years. Charges of cruelty and non-support were included.

The couple married at Westport, Connecticut, July 8, 1921, and separated last December 8.

County Officials To Be Guests At C. of C. Luncheon
Members of the board of supervisors and other county officials will be guests of honor at the bi-monthly membership meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce next Monday noon in the Green Cat cafe, it was announced today by Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber.

W. E. Baker, chairman of the chamber county relations committee, will be in charge of details of the meeting. The meeting will be similar in nature to that staged for city councilmen and officials of Santa Ana. County officials will be called on for brief talks.

wing Republicans. They would not rise to Kingfish Long's bait.

PATCHED
New York would have loved to listen in on the conversation between Jim Farley and John Curry at Louisville last Saturday.

There's no chance for Curry to regain his Tammany leadership but he's a pretty live ghost for all of that—and he may become even livelier. Insiders say he was the ace villain behind the blocking of New York state reappointment.

Well-posted sources believe Farley has discovered he can't get along without the man he despised. He cannot risk a Tammany defection in 1936. Curry is said to be perfectly willing to patch up old differences—for suitable considerations.

LOST
The New York bankers know exactly how Caesar felt when Brutus rushed at him with a dagger. Oliver M. W. Sprague's support for the banking bill was as cruel a shock. They hardly know where to turn now that their pet New Deal martyr has joined the legion of the lost.

APPEAL MADE FOR SUPPORT OF POPPY SALE

High hopes for a successful sale of American Legion auxiliary poppies on annual Poppy day, May 25, were expressed today by Commander Bert Castels of the Santa Ana Legion post.

Every citizen of Santa Ana will be asked to wear a poppy on Poppy day, Castels said.

"The poppy is the flower that gave the only touch of life and beauty to the World war battle fields and cemeteries," Castels continued. "It is the flower of the war dead, those gallant young men who gave their lives in the country's service, and we are asked to wear it in their memory."

When obtaining our poppy, we are asked, too, to make a contribution for the welfare of the disabled World war veterans, the widows and the children left fatherless by the war. None of us with a dime to our names and a touch of human kindness in our hearts can refuse this request. We can only honor the dead, but these living victims of the war are still with us. We can still help them.

"The Poppy day requests will be made to us by the women of the American Legion auxiliary the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of men who served in the war. They have had the poppies made for us by needy and disabled veterans, providing employment for hundreds unable to do other work. They will take the contributions we make and, with understanding and sympathy, turn every penny to the service of war disabled and dependents."

Court Order Will Permit Woman to Enter Complaint

The suit filed a month ago in superior court by George T. Nugent against the Wedge Oil company, demanding $1734 alleged to be due in wages for Nugent, as manager, and other employees on an oil well near Yorba Linda, was regarded suspiciously as collusion between Nugent and the oil company to injure her interests.

Frances Nugent declared today in filing a complaint in intervention. Superior Judge James L. Allen issued an order granting her the right to file the complaint, and join in defending the case. She feared that the oil company would not properly defend it, she stated.

The woman said she owns approximately half the stock of the Wedge Oil company, having obtained ownership by assignment from her husband, now deceased. She was forced to obtain a writ of mandate from the courts to force the oil company to transfer the stock to her, she asserted.

What relationship, if any, exists between the plaintiff Nugent and the defendant Nugent, could not be learned.

AIRPLANE ATTACK MADE LAST NIGHT
Santa Ana was the target for imaginary bombs last night, when war planes, equipped with "camera guns," swooped over the city at about 9 o'clock in a series of tactical maneuvers.

Many inquiries concerning the identity of the planes were received at Eddie Martin's airport by startled citizens. The air craft dived low over the houses from an elevation of about 5000 feet, with its motors roaring, and "guns" clicking pictures through the fog.

The maneuvers were part of a series conducted recently over Southern California cities, testing the vulnerability of the southern half of the state to air attack in case of war. Daytime maneuvers and target practice were held daily throughout last month along the county coast.

Among the group to attend from here will be the post file and drum corps, and the Auxiliary drill team. The file and drum corps will be led in their maneuvers by Drum Major J. A. Randall.

A. H. Valentine was mustered in as a new member of the post by Commander Hall. Committee reports were heard. It was announced that Mrs. May Glaze, Santa Ana, would be a candidate for state president of the auxiliary group.

Membership in the Peter Pan players is open to all children in the city. Former training is unnecessary, and all members of the group are trained free of charge for the productions. Managing directors are Mrs. Beeman and Mrs. Holly Lash Visel.

Music and dancing for the production are arranged by Hazel Nell Bemis, of the art department of the Santa Ana High school.

Among the group to attend from here will be the post file and drum corps, and the Auxiliary drill team. The file and drum corps will be led in their maneuvers by Drum Major J. A. Randall.

A. H. Valentine was mustered in as a new member of the post by Commander Hall. Committee reports were heard. It was announced that Mrs. May Glaze, Santa Ana, would be a candidate for state president of the auxiliary group.

You often start your engine 15 times a day!

4 out of every 5 miles you drive are within 25 miles of home

Today's constant starting wastes your money

—if your gasoline doesn't have these 3 different kinds of power

KEEP track of the number of times a day you step on your STARTER! Then you'll realize that it's the SHORT TRIPS which run up so much of your mileage! Shopping, business and social trips account for 80 MILES out of every 100 you drive!

So you need a gasoline...

...that not only starts off fast and warms up your engine quickly...
...that not only PICKS UP swiftly without using too much gasoline...
...and that not only is economical on STEADY RUNNING between stops...
But is thrifty in all these 3 ways!

In short, you need a gasoline that has 3 different kinds of power... and has these three kinds of power IN PERFECT BALANCE!

Super-Shell is the FIRST truly balanced gasoline! It is another great achievement by Shell engineers—the men who pioneered in such important developments as the "weather-conditioning" of gasoline.

Won't you start saving money TODAY at one of the 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from Coast to Coast?

Saves Gasoline 3 WAYS

1. Can save up to a cupful on every "cold" start.
2. Can save up to a cupful in ten minutes of rapid accelerating or hill climbing.
3. Can save up to a cupful in every hour of steady running, many motorists report.

PROPOSAL FOR THIRD PARTY TO BE SOUNDED

Claiming to be the only man who ever went from a Federal penitentiary directly to a seat in congress, Representative Francis H. Shoemaker, Minnesota legislator, will speak at the Unitarian Open Forum in the Unitarian church, Eleventh and Bush streets at 7:30 p. m. Friday under auspices of the American Open Forum. Admission is free.

"Shoemaker is touring Southern California in the interests of a third party which he believes can be fused from Epic Democrats, Utopians, Townsendians, and others who will blend with Minnesota Farmer-Laborites and Wisconsin La Follette forces," the announcement of the meeting said. "His mission here will be to present the plan and to induce local liberals to pursue the work."

"The Minnesota representative achieved considerable prominence in Washington in a brief time by his vigorous methods. He is known as a master of epigrams and a forceful speaker."

"Roosevelt pardoned Shoemaker when the latter was elected to congress from his cell at Leavenworth. Shoemaker had been imprisoned on the charge of sending libelous matter through the mail by writing on the outside of an envelope his sentiments regarding a prominent citizen, later convicted of fraud. His vigorous campaign carried on through his own newspaper won him the election as representative at large for Minnesota."

"The local meeting is expected to be the largest yet conducted by the American Open Forum because of the prominence of the speaker and because he is the first to bring the third party plea energetically before Southern Californians."

WALNUT PEST CONTROL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The annual pest control field day for walnut growers of Orange County has been set for Tuesday, May 14, 9:30, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. The program is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Farm Bureau Walnut Growers department.

At this time a report will be given by the agricultural commissioner on the present condition of walnut codling moth emergence in Orange County walnut districts, and recommendations will be presented as to time of spraying and materials to use for the most effective and economical control of the worm. Inspectors are now in the field making observations and counts so as to determine the best time for starting the control program in local orchards.

Arrangements are also being made to have a report presented by W. E. Goodspeed, manager of the Walnut Control Board, on the status of the surplus pool and payment to growers.

A brief review of the production cost analysis just completed by the farm advisor will be made. The program will be of special timely interest both from a cultural and economic standpoint.

Growers will assemble at the C. W. Thornburg orchard on the Olive-Anaheim road, one-half mile west of Olive, at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday. All growers are invited to attend.

LITTLE STORIES OF SUCCESS

When Mrs. Olive French, South Olive street, Orange, speaks about dollars and doughnuts, she never, never, says it's dollars to doughnuts but rather she inverts the old saying and says its doughnuts to dollars, for this is what Mrs. French has been doing for sometime past, turning round brown doughnuts to oblong green and grey dollar bills.

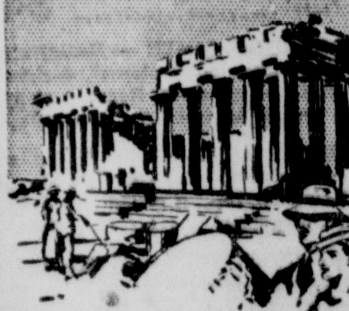

Sometime ago Mrs. French experienced a yen to taste again the buttery doughnuts her mother had made as a child. She had no recipe but after a number of experiments she succeeded in duplicating the remembered dainty.

She made them several times and so pleased was she with the way the doughnuts "turned out," that she gave them to her neighbors as friendly gifts. Soon the neighbors and their neighbors, began coming to Mrs. French to buy doughnuts to serve either in the homes or at social affairs. And so numerous dollars via the doughnut route went into Mrs. French's purse providing her with the "pin money" women have enjoyed having as their own since money came into being.

STAMP SPANS 24 CENTURIES

THE ultra-modern and the ancient were brought together, across a span of 24 centuries, on some of Greece's airmail stamps. An airplane flying over the Acropolis or some of the other relics of a past culture; the Graf Zeppelin in a similar flight over Greece; symbolic representations of Hermes, a famous messenger of Greek fable, and an airplane, are shown on most of this country's airmail issues.

The stamp shown below is one of four values lithographed in from four to six colors and issued in 1926. The Acropolis, on the six color stamp below, is the flat-topped hill on which stand the remains of a classic art. The best known relic is the Parthenon, perfect example of a pure Doric temple and one of the most beautiful buildings in the world.

ORANGE COUNTY SERA APPROVES NEW PROJECTS

Three new projects involving an expenditure of $57,199 and which would give employment to 211 persons were approved by the Orange county SERA committee at its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon.

The biggest project approved was sponsored by Director Terrence H. Halloran of the SERA, designed for the rehabilitation of 200 untrained SERA women who will be taught to sew, knit, be instructed in health sanitation and economical home-keeping. The project is to be operated in eight cities and rural centers and would cost $45,945 for labor. This project would be for women who are untrained and who might be trained for production projects.

A project for the construction of a woman's clubhouse in Brea to be used as a civic center was approved. This project would employ eight persons and would cost SERA $4,892 for labor and would cost the sponsors $2924 for materials and supervision.

The other projects approved was to furnish four extra clerks and stenographers for the National Reemployment Service office here, which is swamped with applications for work. The project would cost SERA $1638 for labor. NRS would furnish $100.

Another project was discussed at the meeting. This was regarding a proposed rehabilitation of the Brea elementary schools. The total constructional program calls for expenditure of $125,000 not including demolition. The school trustees have $50,000 on hand, propose to raise $60,000 in a bond issue and to obtain $15,000 in a PWA grant. The trustees asked SERA for assistance to the extent of $19,189 to help the program of demolition. It would require 50 men on the demolition project. SERA will make a financial investigation of the school district to determine need.

RANCHERS ACTIVE WITH BEAN WORK

TALBERT, May 8—Ranchers are finding this a busy season with practically all crops at the stage where much work is needed.

The lima bean planting is well under way with a large acreage due for planting to this crop this season. The child pepper crops are showing a good stand but the works are causing some trouble.

Hay baling is now under way and the crops are showing a heavy tonnage, due to rains. Ballers are coming in for the harvest season and one combined thresher is coming from Costa Mesa, being brought by Mr. Chilcote, who will head barley here when it is ripe enough for harvest.

Two new sets of scales are being put in this week, one on the Emil Lecrivain place and the other on the Wright ranch, which Mr. Goubert has leased.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Were Jack London alive today he might not recognize his own story in the screen version of "The Call of the Wild." The human element has been built up too much. But he would admit that it's a darn good picture. And, after all, you can't make players like Clark Gable, Loretta Young and Jack Oakie secondary to a dog.

Previewed here a few nights ago, the film got a deservedly enthusiastic response from as many persons as could crowd into the theater. They liked its speed, its drama, and the fact that it didn't wind up with the usual clinch. It will get that same response everywhere unless I miss my guess.

There's no argument now as to who are Hollywood's leading bridge addicts. They are Ralph Bellamy and his wife. The other night they were playing bridge when a water pipe burst and literally flooded their living room. While Mrs. Bellamy was calling a plumber, the water caused a short circuit and the lights went out. So, while they were waiting for the plumber to arrive, they retired to the garage and finished the rubber by the lights from Ralph's car.

FOOD EXPERT WILL LECTURE HERE THURSDAY

Dr. Belle Wood-Comstock, M. D., of Los Angeles will speak on "Practical Food and Living" Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Temple Theater, following a musical program which starts at 7:30.

"Doctor Comstock is not only an authority on foods and child feeding, but also specializes in children," Evangelist B. R. Spear, who arranged the meeting, said today. "The doctor has lectured for years on home life, child training, health foods and kindred topics. Her lectures are inspiring, attractive and simple. She comes as a mother of experience, and is the author of several books."

Evangelist Spear has arranged for a practical demonstration of health foods at the conclusion of the lecture. A variety of free health food samples will be passed out to all present. A dietitian as well as the doctor will be present to answer questions on diet.

The evangelist lectures tonight on a current prophecy, illustrated on the screen, "The Dizzy Danger of Another World War." He draws his conclusions from words spoken by Christ.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Whirl Winds and Ill Winds by a Letta Fellow

Eddie West, Sports Editor, The Register, Dear Eddie:

The gang at the office is sorry that you are ill and for that matter I suppose you regret it yourself. I imagine you regretted when the keenest last night when you saw your sport page. "Panty waist" (or should it be waste?) Meen looked over the sport page yesterday and said "How are the mighty fallen." But then you know you are always kidding. He's a swell guy and really is my pal. You remember how he used to come out and smile when he told me the boss wanted to see me.

Anyway the gang felt that West Winds should not be neglected and also felt that you should have a message of cheer to brighten your evening, so they are all contributing a letter for you. Each one of the fellows and girls are going to tell you a little news (you know inside stuff), but if they say anything about the guy that's pinch hitting for you—don't believe it. You know how they—jealous, that's all.

Well that's all for this time from your substitute, who learned a long time ago that a pair of dice offer a shorter road to prosperity than all the "send-a-dime" letters in the world.

Hoping your illness is SOMETHING TRIVIAL, I am Yours truly,

Paul Vissman.

Dear "Carry-On" West: Like Will Rogers, all I know is what I read in the papers. And now I know why "West Winds" has been such a popular sports feature of The Register. Louise has been writing it most of the time, I can get away with that crack because you are sick and by the time you get back to your desk your fever will have subsided and you will have had time to cool off. I hope. Maybe you should get your "ghost" to pinch hit more often. Perhaps you have been "hitting the ball" too hard and it has made you sick, which is a base thing to happen. Now ain't that punny?

Ken "Stinky" Adams.

Eds: Panty-waist just comes in and says you won't be down today, which is your bad mistake, because while you are home chewing on your Van Dyke, lookit what we're doing to your column.

The best of it is, we know that even after the paper comes out tonight and you are struck dumb with horror, and start looking for your gun and paints, you probably won't be able to come up here after us, cause your Van Dyke probably has a hair ribbon on it by this time, wives being what they are.

Which reminds me that Louise certainly cleared the bases yesterday. The kid is still good, ain't she? And so we don't need any pinch-hitters today. Nothing to do but ruin the column. Bill Cole just came in, chuckling about something. He wouldn't tell what I guess he got thinking about the Register golfers. Was that what made you sick?

Well, Eduardo, just as well you stay away a day or two longer. Mace has been pretty hard to get along with since Saturday. Yah, the derby.

But never mind the derby, kid, I've got three more dimes in. Yours disrespectfully, Gorgeous.

Dear Eddie: We surely miss you and we're all trying hard to keep up your fine record of getting out one of the best sports pages in Southern California. It's quite a task, we discover, especially at digging up those exclusive and interesting stories at which you are such a master.

Hope your recovery will be rapid. Maybe while you are home you'll have time to indulge in that new "indoor sport" and get out a few of those "Prosperity Club" letters.

Paul.

Dear Hound: THERE IS A SPORTS WRITER NAMED WEST WHOSE COLUMN IS RANKED WITH THE BEST BUT HE'S NOW HOME IN BED AND HE LOOKS UNWELLERED SO WELL ADD THIS TO WINDS OF THE WEST.

BOO BOO.

Dear Eddie: I hate to pick on you when you're down, and I don't like to be impertinent, but you are by any chance a good sailor? Do you know how to luff, haul away, tack, avast, gee, haw, doubt, and other such nautical terms? Because you'd better. Orange county, as you perhaps have heard, is soon to be the proud possessor of the Pacific's finest yacht harbor, and the sailing events will be on you in hordes and no time. I heard someone that sports editors are experts at most everything.

The best of all the small boat sailors will be here this summer when the International Star boat races will be held at Newport Harbor. (A Balboaite, Hook Beardslee, is world champ at that stuff). And for another event the Balboa Yacht club is to donate the largest trophy ever given in these parts for the National Blue Star race series, to be held soon somewhere around here. Eat a light lunch and come on down. I know a fellow who'll give you a ride in his boat for the inter-club series this month.

Yours nautically,

Bob Guild.

Dear Eddie: I am sorry that you can't take it any more, that the old chin is sagging and lopsided, because I was just itching and aching to challenge you to a badminton match on Kenny Adams' decomposed granite court, because you see I have played once more than you have. It surely is tough to try to hit those low fast ones, isn't it? And I'm sorry I missed that tennis club meeting last night, and that you aren't here to report to about it, so I guess it must have been one of those fellows involved. Am I wrong when I opine that Stanford's terrific defeat last Saturday was too much for you? Just because I took a terrific lacing Sunday on the golf course, did I quit the job and malingering? I can just hear you say: "Back to the hole, you mole!"

Moon.

Dear Eddie: Two word weary index fingers, (note to the linotype operator: DON'T make that word weary) accustomed to tapping out tales of facts, data about dinner dances, reports of receptions, comments on clubs or platitudes about parties, suddenly found themselves whirling mysteriously in the very heart of a tornado. A WEST WIND! Yes indeed there was the wind all right, loads and loads of air, most it hot. But where was West? There was his desk—nobody sitting at it. There was his typewriter—nobody using it. No West Wind reporter—but here is a West Wind reporter. He's home in bed. Sick. Not shamming. Too bad, Eddie. May the West Wind speedily blow all the aches and pains away.

Eleanor.

Dear Eddie: Clouds were black this morning, they are grey now, and by evening they should have a silver lining. Of course, maybe a sickish person doesn't care about clouds; but we know you are interested in West Winds. Do they have anything to do with clouds? Anyhow, the winds had to blow pretty hard before all of us knew that you were home, and unable to come to work. You are always so busy back in your corner that we

FIRST SANTO GRID CLASH MAY 29

SCHOOL BOARD GIVES NIGHT GAME PERMIT

Santa Ana grid fans will be given their first taste of football for this year, May 29, at the Municipal Bowl, according to an announcement today by Coach Bill Foote at the high school. On that night Foote will present last year's Saint squad in a game with the squad that will represent the school this year.

Permission to play the night game was granted last night by the board of education upon the application filed by Foote. This morning permission was granted by the city to use the bowl. Foote said this morning that the game should be a close affair as both squads are fairly evenly matched. The majority of last year's squad still is in school, he said, and those who are not in school are turning out regularly for practice.

The game will be the final clash between the two squads and will practically close spring training for the squad, he said. A nominal admission fee will be charged to defray expenses.

OILERS GUESTS AT BOOSTER BANQUET

Players on the Huntington Beach Oilers, last year's champions of the National Nightball league, will be guests of honor tonight at a banquet and dance to be given in the beach city. Sponsored by the chamber of commerce the affair will be held in Memorial hall, Dr. L. E. Whitaker, vice president of the chamber of commerce will preside.

Following the banquet there will be dancing with the public invited to both dinner and dance. The purpose of the affair, according to the sponsors, is to show the city's appreciation of the team's effort last year and to get the public acquainted with the players who will attempt to repeat last year's victory, this season.

SCRIBE PICKS LOU AMBERS CANZONERI SLOWING DOWN

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 8.—(UP)—Round. Canzoneri can go "all out" only for a minute of the three.

A few years ago, Tony was the "Little Bulldog"—a hammered down Mickey Walker. With the ring of the bell he'd come out strutting, sure of himself, tough, and ready to give and take for three straight minutes. He's old now, as fighters go. He's hell for 60 seconds, but for those other two minutes he's dodging around, hoping his legs will hold him up to the finish.

In picking Ambers, I want to assure you that if Canzoneri could shed a few years and go in there as he was at his best, this Ambers with his monkey business wouldn't last five rounds. They say he is fast. But Tony could catch him. That he has a peculiar style, similar to Greb's, and throws punches from every direction. Tony would solve that. And they say he is hard to hit. You could bet that the Tony Canzoneri of a few years ago would hit him—very hard and very often.

The Canzoneri I am picking to lose to Ambers is just a moon-faced, pleasant old gent, who will be watching the clock two minutes out of three, wondering if his legs will hold up, and thinking about those big easy chairs on his Marlboro farm.

TENNIS CLUB ACTS TO LIGHT RIVERSIDE IN WILLARD COURT PRACTICE TILT

Early installation of lights on one tennis court at Frances Willard school looks as a possibility following last night's meeting of the Santa Ana Tennis Club at Excelsior Creamery. The club, at present, is within striking distance of the financial goal necessary to light one court.

The major portion of the business meeting was devoted to a discussion of method of raising the balance of the fund. It was pointed out that the lighting of one court would give many tennis enthusiasts an opportunity to play which they do not enjoy at present except on Sundays.

Because of the general value of the proposal to the community Carson Smith, in charge of the project for the tennis club, will take the matter before directors of the Lions club today with a request for co-operation. The club will be asked to sponsor some event for the purpose of raising the necessary money.

Should this co-operation be extended the next move will be to take the matter up with the Santa Ana Board of Education for permission to install the lights. Underground conduits necessary to the project already are installed having been included at the time the courts were constructed.

After the business meeting last night members of the club took part in a ping-pong tournament with Merle Hallman winning. Howard Moore was runner up.

The next meeting of the club will be held at Balboa with a party on the beach being featured.

ELKS PLAY BARKERS

CARDINALS GET PHIL COLLINS IN CASH DEAL

NEW YORK, May 8.—(UP)—"Fidgety" Phil Collins, right-handed ace of the Phillies, reported to the Cardinals today, giving the world champions their fifth starting pitcher and ostensibly bringing them hope of relief from the embarrassment of nesting in fourth place, behind even the Dodgers, in the National league standings.

Acquisition of Collins yesterday in a straight cash transaction added to an experienced winner to a pitching staff none too sturdy beyond the Deans and composed of Bill Walker, Wild Willie Hallahan, and a bullpen full of rookies and reliefs.

The Giants, in front by so scant a margin that the fourth-place Cards are only two games back, retained their position yesterday as rain washed away all National league games and one of four in the American.

The White Sox increased their lead and simultaneously knocked the Yankees out of third place into tie with the idle Red Sox by beating the New Yorkers, 4 to 3.

Chicago moved a half game further ahead of the Indians, rained out with the Red Sox, and did it with an attack that drove Lefty Vernon Gomez from the hill.

Detroit got five-hits pitching from Tommy Bridges and beat the Athletics, 5 to 3, on 1 hits allowed by Cain, the loser, and Marcum. Moses hit a homer in the eighth with Fox on.

Whitehill scattered nine Brown hits and Washington won, 7 to 3, from the whole St. Louis pitching staff.

MASSERA DECISIONS

CHARLEY RETZLAFF

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—Charley Massera, Philadelphia coal miner, won a decision over Charley Retzlaff of Duluth in a cautious 10-round main event battle here last night.

Massera stayed in close throughout the battle and gave Retzlaff little or no opportunity to display the punch which has won him some recognition as a knocker out.

Retzlaff won the first three rounds and the tenth. Massera was awarded the others. The Philadelphia weighed 138 and Retzlaff 200.

Santa Monica Man Gets 415 Pound Bass Off Spanish Village

SAN CLEMENTE, May 8.—Jack Cooper, Santa Monica, Calif., is nursing strained arms and an aching back today, after a tussle with a 415 pound black sea bass in which Cooper was victorious, after 60 minutes of battling.

The giant fish was hooked by Cooper three minutes after he had commenced fishing from the barge Kohala, anchored in the kelp beds off San Clemente, and landed in an hour, not without a real struggle.

After being hauled aboard the craft, the huge fish was christened Kohala, and trussed up in post of prominence at 102 El Camino Real, as proof of San Clemente's largest fish story. The catch broke all records for fish caught with light tackle from the San Clemente barge.

Many Changes Indicated By School Board Action

TRUSTEES FAIL TO SIGN ESSERT FOR NEW TERM

PLACENTIA, May 8.—Members of the board of education last night voted four to one against renewal of the contract of Ralph Essert, superintendent of schools, and did not grant contracts to two Valencia High school teachers. No reasons were given for the action. Although all questions of teacher employment were not solved, many changes were indicated. The board adjourned until 5 p. m. today to complete employment of teachers for next year.

All teachers under tenure were re-employed. In addition, Mrs. Florence Arnold, head of the music department of the grammar schools, Miss Mabel Anderson head of the manual training department, and Glen Kreps were re-employed. RELIEF CALLS DECREASING IN LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, May 8.—That there is a manifest aversion on the part of needy persons to apply for, or avail themselves of public charity, and that in most cases all other means of help are exhausted before such requests are made by applicants, was the substance of a report read by Mrs. George B. Dunham, in charge of relief activities, at the regular monthly meeting of the local chapter of the Red Cross held Tuesday afternoon in the council chamber.

Mrs. Dunham reported that total receipts in cash during the month of April amounted to $20.63, and that relief expenditures for the same period totaled $53.53. She made a point of the fact but few of the recipients of aid had continued to avail themselves of further offers of aid to tide them over, and that all had expressed a desire to find employment. In addition to small cash donations by friends interested in the relief work of the Red Cross, the chapter received a considerable quantity of bread and groceries from local firms for which Mrs. Dunham expressed her thanks, particularly to baking concerns for their generous donations of bread. While there is still need for relief work among needy residents, the situation is improving, Mrs. Dunham remarked.

Capt. Edward Hobart and William Laird of the life saving squad told the Red Cross directors of their plans for handling the beach crowds this summer.

BOAT CAPTAIN TO FACE JUDGE MAY 22

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, May 8.—Harry Arno, skipper of the fishing boat "Conti Di Savoia," will appear before Justice of the Peace John Landell May 22 to enter a plea, following his arrest at San Pedro on charges of purse snatching in a closed area of Dana Point two weeks ago.

Complaints against Arno were signed more than a week ago by five Newport Beach fishermen, who claimed they witnessed the fishing boat haul a large school of barracuda close to Dana Point. A John Doe warrant against the operator of the seine boat was sworn out, and was served this week on the return of the craft to San Pedro following an extended fishing trip.

Arno was arrested by fish and game officials of San Pedro. It is the first arrest of its kind since passage of the new law allowing witnesses of a game law violation to swear out complaints. Formerly fish and game officers had been required to be on the spot at the time of the violation.

SCHOOL BOARD STANDS PAT ON BALDWIN MOVE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 8.—Despite protests voiced at last night's meeting of the board of trustees of the Huntington Beach elementary schools, the board refused to reconsider its action of last week in requesting the resignation of Superintendent C. B. Baldwin, not later than May 15. Members stated that Baldwin was being dismissed as an economy measure.

Friends of the superintendent appeared at the meeting last night, addressing the board in Baldwin's favor. Among those protesting the move were the Rev. J. H. Engle, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Huntington Beach; Mrs. W. J. Ebbert and Baldwin.

D. T. Tarbox, former member of the board, spoke briefly, urging support of the school board and commending it for its stand for economy. Baldwin cited his record in the past six years as reason for his being kept in the position of superintendent.

Chairman L. H. Benningsdorf spoke for the board, stating that it was the intention of the trustees to dispense with the services of a school superintendent, and to allow Miss Tynes Smith, principal of the school, to assume Baldwin's duties. Warren J. Bristol, president of the board, was out of town, and Mrs. Loraine Hancock substituted as clerk of the board.

Mrs. Ebbert and the Rev. Mr. Engle both voiced the opinion that the board had acted unfairly in dismissing Baldwin without a hearing. Mrs. Ebbert stated that the parents and students of the elementary schools wished Baldwin to continue in the post of superintendent.

Baldwin, in his speech to the trustees, aired difficulties of the past on the school board, stating that there had been friction between Bristol and Art Anderson, when Anderson was a member of the board, and that John Eader, former member, had not stood for re-election because of friction among the group. He charged that Bristol had desired his dismissal for several years.

Election and appointment of teachers for the coming term was deferred to a called meeting, to be held before June 1. No answer to the protests was made by the trustees.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

ALL women at some period of their lives need a strengthening tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The young woman who suffers from monthly pains, the expectant mother who has nausea and other disagreeable symptoms, or the middle-aged woman who experiences "heat flashes" should take this "Prescription." Mrs. Oscar Nordstrom of 801 Cross Ave., Los Angeles, said: "A few years ago I was almost past going—was weak and rundown. Day after day there was a dull pain in my back between my shoulders. I used Dr. Pierce's Prescription and it seemed to strengthen my entire system."

CITY OFFICIALS TAKE TRIP OVER METROPOLITAN WATER DISTRICT AQUEDUCT ROUTE

Setting out on an inspection tour along the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct which will bring Colorado river water to Santa Ana and other Southern California cities, a party of prominent officials and citizens left Santa Ana this morning at 7 o'clock by automobile.

The trip will require two days, and the party expects to visit all divisions along the route, inspecting tunnels, checking progress of construction, and participating in construction camp activities at all points. It was expected the party would proceed as far as the Parker damsite and return.

The aqueduct route is 242 miles long and construction work is under way all along the line, it is reported, the only work behind schedule being that at the San Jacinto tunnel, longest bore of the route.

The Santa Ana inspection party is headed by Col. S. H. Finley, secretary of the Metropolitan Water district, and includes four city councilmen, Mayor Fred C. Rowland, Ernest H. Layton, Wm. H. Penn, and Joseph P. Smith.

At the Lincoln school soup still is being served daily. This project is under the SERA.

Hammond Succeeds Fisk In Jaysee Administration

CRAWFORD IS PRINCIPAL OF
HIGH SCHOOL

In electing the principals of all Santa Ana schools for next year, the Board of Education last night effected a reorganization of administration at Santa Ana Junior college and high school, marking the retirement of Dean McKee Fisk from the Junior college under a year's leave of absence, the election of D. K. Hammond as executive administration head of the Junior college, with the title of director; appointment of Calvin Flint, of the Junior college faculty, as dean; and the election of Lynn Crawford, of the high school faculty, as principal of the high school, succeeding Hammond.

In addition, the board re-elected all Junior high school and elementary school principals, as follows: Lathrop Junior High, H. G. Nelson; Willard Junior High, Lyle B. Mitchell; Delhi school, Mrs. Fanny Bragg; Edison school, Mrs. Hazel Maxwell; Franklin school, Miss Lottie Sweet; Fremont school, Mrs. Edith Gilbert; Hoover school, Miss Isabel Lindsay; Jefferson school, Aubrey Glines; Lincoln school, Miss Linda Paul; Logan school, Miss Henrietta Home; Lowell school, Miss Mildred Mead; McKinley school, Miss Mary A. Andrews; Muir school, Miss Alice Grimshaw; Roosevelt school, Miss Verna Wells; Spurgeon school, Walter Egger; Wilson school, Miss Bertha Barclay.

Election of teachers was deferred until next Friday evening, when the board will hold a special adjourned meeting for that purpose. In that connection it was indicated last night that the board will abandon its policy of preventing teachers from gaining permanent rating under the tenure law, by discharging them when they have completed their three years probationary service.

Dr. Margaret Baker, approving Superintendent Frank Henderson's comment that he was not recommending the dismissal of such probationary teachers, when they had proved to be good teachers, was joined by other board members in repudiating the old policy, which had been a protest against the tenure law. They agreed that such a policy deprived the school system of the services of good experienced teachers.

Accordingly, while the only two teachers of the system who are this year completing their three years probationary period, were formally notified of the termination of their contracts, they will be re-elected for next year and become permanent teachers. The board will use this method of weeding out unwanted probationary teachers, and keeping wanted teachers. The two who are completing probationary service this year and will be retained are Miss Hubert Kueneman, elementary supervisor, and Miss Marie Osborne, kindergarten teacher at Hoover and Spurgeon schools.

There are a dozen probationary teachers who will complete their three years "probation" next year, and Superintendent Henderson last night indicated that he probably will recommend retention of all of them when the time comes. They are Marian Bruner, Robert S. Farrar, Reese Greene, John McCoy, Byron Quivey, Alan Revill, Mary Beebe, Katherine Blank, Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Alice McVey, Mrs. Mary Smith and Donna Ward.

Wilbur Hoke, who came to Delhi school this year from Tustin schools, on exchange with Mrs. Bishop, will return to Tustin next term, so notification of termination of his contract was authorized. Similar notice was authorized to be given Agnes McKinstry, who is supplying for Florence J. Hulsick, who will return next year from a year's leave of absence. The part-time teaching contract of Mrs. Mary Steffensen, at the High school, also was terminated.

Five leaves of absence were granted last night and three resignations of teachers accepted, thus indicating seven prospective vacancies on teaching staffs next term, as there is only one teacher, Tessie H. Childers, of Willard Junior High, returning from a leave of absence, in addition to Mrs. Hazel Bishop's return from Tustin and the return of Florence Hulsick.

Leaves were granted last night to Gertrude Potts, for a sabbatical year on furlough with a group of university folk from various points under direction of U. S. C. to the former Wilma Playan, an Easter bride; to Mrs. Gertrude McIntosh, also a newlywed; to Thelma Gerard and Mary K. Lowry, soon to be brides; and to Mrs. Leona M. Woolley, who already had had one year's leave and asked an extension of one year.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Edna Henn Smith, now on leave from Edison school; Mrs. Elizabeth Landrum Thomas, high school and Junior college art teacher, who has married and will return to her home; and Lavinia Smith, kindergarten teacher, who will marry and discontinue teaching, Henderson reported.

The change in Junior college and high school administration had been rumored for some time. Dean Fisk, it was learned, will enter Yale to do graduate work for a doctor's degree, or may accept the post of dean in a northern California Junior college. Henderson informed the board last night that Fisk probably will not return to Santa Ana. Under terms of the leave granted to Fisk the dean'ship would not necessarily be reserved for him, should he return.

Hammond, who has been nominally head of the Junior college, while also acting as principal of the high school, was moved up to exclusive administration of the Junior College, much of which direction has been handled by the dean in the past. The board decided to change the title of the Junior College head from President to Director, feeling that the title President did not fit very well an office that ranks under that of the City Superintendent, who is the head of the entire school system.

Culp Helps
Youths Find
Their Jobs

By John Neubauer

It isn't what you know but whom you know!

The time has passed when anyone can go out into the world and rustle himself a position. He has to have connections—preferably a brother-in-law. If he isn't fortunate enough to marry his prospective employer's daughter, there isn't much hope.

Certainly it can be done! But it takes a mighty good man to get very far these days. It is far more practical to know someone on the inside with connections.

Parked in a swivel chair behind a massive oak desk, L. O. Culp maps out his own personal war against the depression. While he boasts several titles connected with the administration of the Fullerton Union high school and district Junior college, his chief aim in life apparently is helping young people.

He is given little recognition in this capacity, though he is instrumental in placing someone nearly every day in secretarial, office, or whatever an applicant is suited for. He has assisted prospective bankers find their niche in life and has assisted young men in securing sea-going employment.

This soft-spoken little man goes about his work unheralded. Few high school and college students realize the important bearing he can have on their lives though they know him as head of the commerce department.

Culp enjoys life. His aim is to help others set the full benefit of theirs by finding a place for them in this ever changing economic system. It has been difficult. But Culp has never given up. During the depression his services proved most valuable to countless of young men and women, who would never have known where to turn had it not been for him. Not only does he confine himself to placing his students, but he is instrumental in helping others. He is a modern good Samaritan, helping to establish someone every day.

Following their graduation from four-year colleges, many graduates have tried to get started on their own hook, but failed. They may have boasted fancy degrees and had scholastic ratings, but were failures when it came to finding a job, much less a position.

Then their paths crossed. L. O. Culp, the good Samaritan, started to pull strings or whatever one does place as dean of men at the Junior college, is serving his first year in Santa Ana schools, as orientation and history teacher at the Junior college.

Lynn Crawford, new high school principal, is a veteran local instructor. He has been assistant vice-principal, boy's counselor and civics instructor.

TO HONOR GOLD
STAR MOTHERS OF SANTA ANA

Gold Star Mothers of Santa Ana will be honor guests at a dinner meeting Thursday night, sponsored by members of the Santa Ana American Legion post, in honor of Mother's day. It was announced today. Each member of the post will bring his own mother to the dinner, wherever possible. The program will open at 8:30 o'clock in the Legion hall. Special entertainment features are being outlined for the occasion.

On May 10 the Orange County Council of the American Legion will meet at Seal Beach for dinner at 7 o'clock. Reservations for that affair may be made through the local post.

May 11 and 12 are dates set for an area caucus to be held at San Bernardino, to which all Santa Ana members are urged to attend. The meeting will convene at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Saturday afternoon and evening will be devoted to sight-seeing and indoor and outdoor sports. Charles Woods, area commander, will be in charge of the meeting.

On May 16 a benefit dance, sponsored by the county council, will be held at the Valencia ball room, as a means of raising funds to be used in time of disaster by the County Disaster Relief committee.

To get a position. Some of these very people to whom he has extended a helping hand are now happily married. Thankful, they owe their happiness to him. They know it, even if the world doesn't.

His recommendations are considered. His contacts bring him together with the industrial giants of Southern California. All major oil concerns, metropolitan business establishments, banks and industries know this friendly grey-haired gentleman.

It is little wonder that such concerns should pay attention to the people he recommends. He has secured competent help for them from his own ranks. It is far easier to take a man or woman of proven merit than to pick one from the countless hundreds that pass through personal offices.

The little giant of the Fullerton high school and Junior college campus may go unheralded for his outstanding work, but hundreds of people whom he has made happy through his cooperation are grateful to him for their careers no matter in what walk of life.

L. O. Culp's name may not grace the pages of "Who's Who," but he is who more and more graduates see this time of year. Why? Because he has a knack of finding that particular cog one is supposed to fit in life.

HOUSEKEEPING TRAILER USED IN TRIPS

Stuart and Claire, the Hollingsworth twins, are shown "playing house" while brother Alan looks on, in the family's new trailer, as it rests between trips in the back yard of the Hollingsworth home at 2442 Riverside Drive. Many Orange county families are planning to take long vacation jaunts in trailers similar to the one shown below.

People Take
To Trailers
For Outings

By Wayne Goble

The call of far-flung roads is in the air. Distant scenes lure our feet and intrigue the imagination.

Thoughts of trout streams, mountain nooks, Eastern friends, and evergreen forests insist on intruding into our everyday work.

In other words, our wonderful "usual" weather is here again; the vacation season is just around the corner; and once more it's camp trailer time in California.

Many people own camp trailers, and soon the roads will be alive with them as they travel from one vacation point to another. Most of the rest of us WISH we had such equipment, which we could use at the seashore, in the mountains, or wherever we might wish to travel.

Among the first group—the lucky ones who already have—are Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth and family of 2442 Riverside Drive, whose new housekeeping trailer was recently completed and was given its initial trip over the past week-end to Twenty-Nine Palms, with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke as guests of the occasion.

Many short trips are contemplated for the coming summer, and next year the Hollingsworths hope to travel to Mid-Western points, and possibly as far as Boston, carrying all necessary accommodations right with them wherever the spirit, and the automobile to which the trailer is attached, may lead.

The housekeeping trailer was built in the garage of the Hollingsworth home by Dr. Hollingsworth, with the assistance of A. G. Morris. It is 17 feet long, and is wired for electric lights which may be plugged into any light socket, also with auxiliary lighting from a storage battery where electric service is not available.

There is a three-burner gas plate, a built-in ice box, storage for 20 gallons of water, with small pump faucet and sink and plenty of cupboard room.

Meals are served on a removable table, placed between two long cushioned seats. At night these two seats are transformed into sleeping bunks for four people.

These bunks will be used by Dr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth, daughter, Janet and son, Alan. An inflatable mattress placed upon the floor will provide a bed for the twins, Stuart and Claire.

The exterior of the trailer is painted a dust gray. The interior is a light cream, which reflects 98 per cent of the light.

Screened windows provide ventilation, without flies or mosquitos.

Between trips, the trailer sets in the back yard of the Hollingsworth home and makes a convenient playroom for the children.

Dr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth, their son, Stuart, and Mr. and Mrs. Burke returned from Twenty-Nine Palms enthusiastic about the comforts of trailer travel, and the beauties of the desert country.

While there, they visited the Hanson Homes property being developed by Ole Hanson, formerly of San Clemente, and enjoyed an airplane flight over the desert country as guests of Dr. J. M. Burlew and Fred Burlew of Santa Ana.

The Hollingsworth-Burlew party required five hours to reach

WILL EXPLAIN TREATMENT OF
TREE AND SOIL

Spring treatment of tree and soil will be the theme of two field demonstration meetings to be held next week at Villa Park and Fullerton, under the direction of the farm advisor's office. It was announced today. The specific subjects to be discussed are spring irrigation; latest information on scaly bark control and mottle leaf control.

The meetings, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, are designed to furnish the grower with the latest developments in tree management and to offer recommendations on the basis of the finding of research and seasonal observations in local orchards.

The matter of premature spring irrigation is one of particular importance just now, in view of the copious precipitation of the current season, he said. Mottle leaf and scaly bark control are ever present problems in most orchards and will attract many operators to the meetings because of the general interest.

W. R. Schoonover, citrus specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, will assist Farm Advisor Wahlberg in the series of meetings which is scheduled as follows:

Thursday, May 16, 9:30 a. m., J. M. Callan's orchard, Orange, three-quarters mile west of 101 Highway, near Euclid street, south and west of Fullerton.

At 2 p. m., H. E. W. Barnes orchard, Tustin avenue, between Collins and Walnut street, north and east of Orange.

All citrus growers are invited to attend.

Twenty-Nine Palms by auto, while the Burlew plane flew the distance in one hour and 10 minutes. Burlew reported the temperature 10 degrees higher in Santa Ana Sunday than on the desert.

RUNNING a business is like running a household: Current income must be depended upon to meet current expenses. Help must be paid regularly. Materials purchased must be paid for according to terms. Rent, light and other bills must be paid when due.

The merchant, the physician, the dentist—all credit granters—in order to meet their obligations, must insist on prompt payment of their accounts in accordance with standard terms.

Each month's charges are due on the first of the following month and payable not later than the 10th. The 10th, by courtesy, is the final date for payment—after that, bills are considered delinquent.

Young Couple Return to Beach Home With Infant Son

There was a joyous occasion today within a closely knit family circle, when Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Norton had the pleasure of returning to their home, 809 Bay Front, Balboa, with their young son Peter born on April 25, 1935, in St. Joseph's hospital.

Master Peter has the distinction not only of being the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Norton, 361 Edgewood Road and of Mrs. Elmer Bowers, 1009 1/2 North Broadway, but also of being the first great-grandson of Mrs. A. C. Bowers, 1401 North Main street, and of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Norton, 817 South Birch street. Mrs. Arnold Norton was formerly Miss Helen Bowers.

There are also four young uncles to welcome the advent of the little lad, Messrs Addison Bowers, Francis Norton, Miles Norton and Dr. G. Stanley Norton.

Women's Club to Send President to Conclave at Del Monte

Making arrangements to send their president, Mrs. R. G. Carman, to a convention of California Federation of Women's Clubs to be held this month at Del Monte, members of Santa Ana Women's club met yesterday afternoon in Veterans hall, Mrs. Earl Waycott took charge of the meeting while convention plans were being made.

Mrs. W. M. Wells, program chairman, presented Louis Hanson in a travel club and Mrs. Walter Kogler in a group of vocal solos.

Mr. Hanson, of the World Travel Bureau, told of his recent trip to India and other points. He described a Y. M. C. A. dedication which he witnessed at Jerusalem, and related many unique experiences which were his during a six months' tour of the Far East.

Mrs. Walter Kogler of Orange, chairman of music for Orange County Women's Club Federation, sang three groups of solos, "A Friend of Mine," "Love Song," "Over the Meadow," "Spirit Flower," "Minuet," "An Old Violin," "Keep on Hoping," "Violet Song," accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Ockles. During the last selection, "Violet Song," Miss Kogler distributed clusters of violets throughout the audience.

Ways and Means committee and Philanthropy section members announced plans for a luncheon and sale to be held at noon, May 24 in the home of Mrs. J. P. Watkins, Balboa Island.

Plans were made for installation of officers to be held during an all day picnic meeting scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. June 4 at the Isaac Walton clubhouse in Fullerton.

Retiring Ebell Leader Entertains Officers at Luncheon

With Ebell society approaching the close of its programmed year, those executive board members who have worked in such close harmony for the past two years under the presidency of Mrs. Charles V. Davis, yesterday found a new meaning given their association when Mrs. Davis brought them together for a purely social affair in her home, 1615 North Broadway.

The gardens of the home which are the special pleasure and reason for the existence of the society, yielded a colorful assortment of flowers to lend additional grace to the home.

Luncheon tables, each arranged for four, had their snowy linens centered with a centerpiece of red, white and yellow flowers, and each table had its individual color, some flaming red, others yellow, or mauve and violet or delicate pink, but all in graceful arrangement in effective black and white vases.

Among flowers in the background, a great bowl of Paul's scarlet roses placed on an embroidered black Chinese shawl on a big table, was especially admired.

Mrs. Davis was assisted by her daughter, Miss Barbara Jane Davis, and by Mrs. James Harding in various hostess duties including the serving of the luncheon courses. Flower tinted place cards later served for recording contract scores, the highest of which was that made by Mrs. George Dunton with Mrs. Fred Forsy second high. Their rewards were dainty toilettries wrapped and tied in harmony with the floral scheme.

Mrs. Davis included on her guest list, her sister president of Junior Ebell society, Mrs. Don Park; her officers, Mesdames J. M. Cloyes, F. E. Coulter, Walter Watkins, J. T. Wilson, Warren Brakeman, Ralph Smalley, L. M. Forney, Frank Patterson, Emory Forney, Frank Patterson, Emory Forney, her directors, Mesdames George Briggs, W. F. Ferrey, Hugh Lowe, George Dunton, F. Junior Ebell Members Hold Annual Election of Officers

When Miss Nan Mead returns from a visit in Washington, D. C., she will assume the presidency of Junior Ebell society, having been elected to that position last night at the society's monthly meeting in the clubhouse lounge. She succeeds Mrs. Don Park under whose leadership the organization has enjoyed a successful and interesting year.

Others named to serve with Miss Mead were Mrs. Edmund West, first vice president; Miss Florence Brownridge, second vice president; Miss Eleanor Crookshank, secretary; Mrs. Charles Webber, treasurer.

Business matters were supplemented by a fascinating program put on by a magician, Arthur Valli of Los Angeles, and his amusing assistant, the clown, Bozo. Four members of the society, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. John L. Taylor, Mrs. Francis Horton and Mrs. John Bradley, were called upon to assist the magician during the evening. Borrowing a hat from the audience, Mr. Valli succeeded in making it produce yards and yards of paper, an American flag and other items. Other equally perplexing stunts were performed.

New officers will be installed Saturday, June 8 at a luncheon meeting to be held at Hotel Laguna. Reservations for the event should be made with Mrs. Don Park or with Miss Dorothy Forsy by Thursday, June 6.

Mrs. Wayne Harrison outlined plans for a scholarship which the society is establishing, and arrangements were made to make the first loan to a Santa Ana girl whose name was suggested at last night's meeting.

Miss Eleanor Crookshank, general chairman of the annual semi-formal dance to be held Saturday night, June 1, at the clubhouse, reported on progress of plans for the event. Mrs. E. D. White, advisor, made a short talk.

Mrs. George Walker was named delegate to the California Federation of Women's clubs convention to be held May 17 and 18 at Del Monte.

Mrs. Aldrie Worswick announced the spring luncheon which Ebell society will hold next Monday in the clubhouse, with Mrs. Jack Valley's program of book reviews following in the auditorium. She asked Junior Ebell members to make their reservations with her or with Mrs. Park before Friday.

Miss Florence Brownridge announced the dessert bridge party and fashion show to be given at Ebell clubhouse Saturday by Orange County Branch A. A. U. W. Tea was served by a hostess committee headed by Mrs. Sam Walker and Mrs. Wayne Harrison. Mrs. E. D. White poured tea.

Bridge Club Hostess Observes Nautical Theme

The nautical theme, which is so popular this season, was employed by Miss Marjorie Berkner last evening when she entertained her bridge club in her home, 2341 Riverside drive.

Tallies distributed for play bore penguins in full dress. Appointments of the home included a wealth of sweets and other spring flowers. Prizes for bridge were awarded Miss Dorothy Dunbar, high, who received a set of coasters in the form of fish; to Miss Dorothy Young, a guest, with second high score, went a kerchief for beach wear.

When tables were laid with white linens for refreshments, each was centered with a miniature beach scene, complete with sandy bordered lake and tiny steamers. Other steamers marked each place. Refreshments furthering the nautical theme consisted of salmon salad moulded in fish form, with salted wafers and strawberry shortcake topped with red, white and blue stars.

Present was a guest, Miss Dorothy Young, of Villa Park; and Mesdames Allan Carstenson, Paul Reynolds, Clyde Higgins, the Misses Florence Turner, Dorothy Dunbar, Roseline Schilling, Mary Hansen, Miriam Samuelson, and the hostess, Miss Marjorie Berkner.

"Wheel Chair Buddies" Meet for Birthday Celebration

This entire week is made a happy one for Frank ("Brownie") Simouneau as he recalls the joyous celebration given his birthday anniversary on Sunday in the garden of the Simouneau home, 1609 West Third street. It was really a double celebration, for Mrs. Laurel Camp of Orange was also observing an anniversary and shared special guest honors with him.

"Brownie" is a familiar figure to Santa Anans as he speeds over the streets of the city in his wheel chair, and there were two of his special "wheel chair buddies," Vernon Carpenter and Freddie Carson, to share the birthday festivities with him. All three are famous for the cheerfulness with which they meet life's misfortunes.

The garden party was given charm by the pretty flowers surrounding the scene, and by the serving of birthday cake with lemonade.

Guests included Charles Harvey and daughter May Jean of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Young and children, LeRoy, Winifred and Doris of Garden Grove; Gladys Hill of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Camp and daughter, Betty Lee Berry; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pexley and daughter, Mrs. H. J. Hampton and son, Fred Dickman and Howard Sturges of Orange; and Mrs. Nordstrom and daughter of Tustin; Joyce Dakin of Costa Mesa.

Santa Ana guests were Mrs. Adeline Simouneau, Mrs. Martha Starkey and children, Betty, LeRoy and Patty Lou, Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Harman, O. A. Harman, E. C. Harman and son, Earl Jr., Gus Anderson, Jack Mock, Herman Vardy, the Misses Mildred Rogers, Geraldine Bray, Edith Armstrong, Genevieve Vardy, Mary Jane Vardy, Betty Vardy, Adeline Simouneau, Mabel Withrow, Bevelyn Harman, Lola Harman, Messrs. Ray Eucker, C. C. Simouneau, Arthur Erickson, Glenn Crosson, Colie Rumsauer, George Toher, Robert Hansen, Elmer Vardy, Vernon Carpenter, Freddie Carson, Robert Harman, Leroy Harman, Robert McCollum and daughter Barbara, and the honor guest, "Brownie" Simouneau.

ANN MEREDITH

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner

3 tablespoons fruit cocktail
3 slices boiled fresh beef tongue
1-2 cup cooked spinach
3 tablespoons fresh green peas dressed with
1 teaspoon thin cream and chopped mint.

Salad, sliced tomato and lettuce
Diet French dressing
Black coffee or clear tea, no sugar.

Calory total, 425.

Always parboil tongue. Further preparation requires scrubbing tongue thoroughly before putting back to cook in fresh water. This preparatory care makes the broth usable. The spinach, cooked in some of the tongue broth, needs only salt and pepper to make it ready for the table. Fresh peas, cooked with a sprig of mint, or a small bit of mint finely minced, added with seasonings, is a delectable flavor.

Add potatoes and dessert to turn this menu into the family meal.

TODAY'S RECIPE
6 good sized tomatoes
1-3 cup chopped cucumber
1-3 cup freshly cooked green peas or good canned grade
1-4 cup sweet pickles, chopped
1-4 cup chopped tomato pulp
Salt, pepper and lemon juice
1-2 to 2 cups cooked chicken
Lettuce and mayonnaise.

In just a short time we'll be having those grand big tomatoes coming along at a price that won't taste brassy, so save this recipe for your first spring luncheon, or some special supper party. It's good!

Scald and peel the tomatoes. Cut a slice off the stem end and carefully scoop out the pulp, drain and measure the quarter-cup mentioned in recipe. Salt the tomato cups and invert to drain (in refrigerator); at serving time combine all vegetables, season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Mix with diced chicken and a little mayonnaise, lifting carefully with forks. Fill the tomato cups, place in a nest of lettuce and serve with extra mayonnaise for those who wish it.

This salad may be made still more luxurious by use of a garnish of asparagus tips and a few slices of avocado. Butter rolls and coffee complete the picture.

Peanut Butter Rice Loaf
1 1/2 cups cooked hot rice mixed
1 scant cup peanut butter

You need not give mother a costly gift to make her happy! She will be thrilled with your thoughtfulness if you send her a box of candy, flowers, a personal corsage, or jewelry. Just a little something to let her know you did think of her on that Special Day of HERS. If she's under forty—in years or in spirit, she will delight in any one or all of these thoughtfully selected gifts.

GREEN GABLES, 2115 North Main. There is one thing you can give MOTHER on her day, that she will appreciate, regardless of the number she already has, and that is a new print dress. Green Gables has a large selection of colors and sizes for only $1.95. These dresses are all smartly tailored, and each one has lots of style, and looks like it cost much more than it really does. The nicest part is, they will look as fresh and new after they have been laundered several times as they do when they are new. Green Gables also has beautiful silk dresses and suits that are absolutely the 'top notch' for summer. One that I particularly liked was a silk print suit—with a background of brown with red, blue and lots of cream color flowers. It was very 'peasant' looking which is very good at the present. The jacket was finger tip length with the Big bishop sleeves and the dress itself had small sleeves, the neckline was completed in front with a big bow of the same material lined with brown taffeta. This was just one of the many lovely silk suits and dresses at Green Gables.

HOMARTS — Santora Building. Every MOTHER would love a beautiful piece of pottery on her Day—and more so if it came from Homarts. This morning I was looking around in this fascinating shop, and the Roseville, Weller, and Franciscan Pottery were delightful to the eye, especially the Franciscan in the different colors. Why don't you go over and 'peek' around like I did.

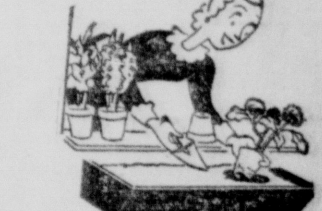

HOME CAFE, 304 North Broadway—Take the family out to dinner Saturday evening. The HOME CAFE specializes in 'meals served family style.' And the price is only 60c. Why not take Mother out for dinner on her day. She will appreciate it so much, and it will really be a treat, because the food is so palatable.

Trott's have a large selection which includes Canape Trays—the part is silver, and lined with glass. And AGAIN... we say, beads are the thing, one two and three strands of pearls are going to be one of the most popular summer accessories. See ALL of Trott's gifts before selecting anything for her.

The DARK BLOND

BY CARLETON KENDRAKE © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a blond. Then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Happ's son, NORMAN; his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; Mrs. HAPP, and VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. Happ's maid.

That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent sees the woman, tries to follow, but loses her. Millicent goes to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound.

Next morning SERGEANT MAHONEY takes charge of the case.

Over the telephone Mrs. Happ learns that her husband has been kidnapped. She is warned not to inform the police.

Millicent and Norman learn that the owner of the car Millicent saw the woman in ermine driving is PHYLLIS FAULCONER. They go to the apartment, are about to go inside when Bob Caise appears. They see Bob enter and then leave. Millicent and Norman go to the apartment. Millicent opens a closet door and calls, "Norman—look!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

Norman Happ stepped forward into the closet and took from one of the hangers a black ermine coat with high collar. He brought it out into the living room of the apartment, where he regarded it curiously.

"Do you think that's the one?" he asked.

"I'm practically certain of it, Norman. It's exactly the cut, shape and style of the one I saw."

"Then this Phyllis Faulconer is the woman in the black ermine coat."

"Yes," she said slowly, "but who is Phyllis Faulconer?"

"Some aristocratic nut who has a great influence over Cynthia. Apparently Bob is working in cahoots with her in order to get something he wants."

Millicent stared at the fur coat, looking at it from various angles.

"Yes," she said slowly, "this is the one. The woman who wore this coat is the one who took my purse in the tea room and left me the other one."

"And," Norman finished, "she must have gone to Drimgold's office, unlocked the door and killed him. Let's give Sergeant Mahoney a ring and have him take her into custody."

"No," Millicent said, "I want to find out more about her before we make any rash accusations. After all, I didn't see her face clearly enough to identify her."

"But the man in the liquor store can identify her."

"First," she said, "let's make certain this was the woman who purchased the whiskey."

"It's got to be," Norman exclaimed impatiently.

"I know just how you feel," she told him, "and there's not the slightest doubt in my mind but that it's the same woman. Just the same we've got to proceed cautiously and be certain of our ground before we call in the police."

"What are we going to do to become certain?" Norman asked.

"We can't do anything staying here and talking."

Millicent thought for a moment, then moved back toward the closet. "One of the first things to do is to put this coat back where it was and get out of here without letting anyone know we picked the lock on the door and found this coat. Then we've got to make arrangements with the man who runs the liquor store to take a look at Phyllis Faulconer and identify her as being the one who bought the whiskey."

"How's he going to do that?"

"There are lots of ways," she said. "If necessary he could come here to the apartment, knock on the door and pretend to be selling something."

"Suppose she's not here?"

"Then he can come back. Probably the girl's working somewhere during the daytime and she is only here at night."

Norman nodded slowly. "Yes," he said, "I guess you're right, although I'd like to get some real action and bring this thing to a head."

"You can't do that," she told him, "until we've got some real evidence. Let's try to get it."

She hung up the fur coat in the closet. Norman crossed to the door and stood with his hand on the knob.

"Wait a minute," she told him. "We've got to pull down the curtain just the way it was. A woman would notice little things like that."

She pulled down the shade and turned to join Norman at the door. Then she caught sight of the corner of a piece of paper lying on the top of the mahogany table. The paper was all but concealed by an embroidered throw which partially covered the varnished surface of the cheap table. Not more than a fraction of an inch was visible.

"Wait a minute," she said. "Let's see what this is."

She pulled back the edge of the throw, disclosing a sheet of note paper on which had been scrawled a hasty message.

Norman Happ came to peer over her shoulder. "Bob's handwriting," he said.

"You're certain?"

"Absolutely. I'd know it anywhere. That's what he came in here for—to leave that note."

Millicent picked up the note and held it so that they could both read the hastily scrawled lines.

The note read:

"You've got to ditch the car. Sergeant Mahoney has the license number. He's got it twisted, but it won't be long until he gets the right number. I tried to get a chance to talk with you but they were watching me too closely and I don't want them to suspect you. So far, you're absolutely above suspicion."

"No one suspects anything unless it's the Murder Girl. I'm going to take care of her. What's more, I'm going to get that notebook—the one that contains Drimgold's confession. That will clean up the last piece of evidence. You ditch the car. Leave the girl to me.—Bob."

"Good heavens!" Millicent exclaimed, "then he was mixed up in the Drimgold murder. What a mess it all is!"

"He may not have been mixed up in the murder," Norman Happ said slowly, "but he certainly has cut in on the deal so that he's going to capitalize on it. You can leave it to Bob to know which side of the bread has the butter. He's always looking out for himself."

"But the woman must have had some man with whom she was working," Millicent pointed out, "then he was mixed up in the Drimgold murder. What a mess it all is!"

THE TINYMITES

Scouty's lasso shot was good. He cried, "Hurray! I knew I could." His lasso dropped around the stump that he had planned to ring.

"Now, to the other side I'll go," said he. "It will be hard, I know, but I am always brave enough to try most anything."

"I hope the vines are very strong. If not, my plan will turn out wrong. Now, first of all, this end I'll tie tightly to a tree."

"I wish the Tinymites were here. They'd see I have no thought of fear. But, if my long vine lasso breaks, they all would laugh at me."

Soon everything was nicely set and Scouty thought, "Gee, I'll get wet when I try traveling hand over hand, across the little stream."

"If I drop off, I'll swim ashore, or else I'll very loudly roar for help, and trust to luck that someone near will hear me scream."

He grabbed hold of the vine and then both of his small feet dangled when he swung his little body out and started on his trip.

The vines swayed down, but didn't break, and Scouty said, "It will not take me long to reach the other side. I hope my hands don't slip."

Right near his feet a fish jumped high. "Don't make me laugh, right now, or I will drop right off and join you," shouted Scouty, with a grin.

"If you are flopping 'round, for me, please stop! I do not want to see your funny tricks, 'cause I have no desire to flop right in."

Lamson Visits Home--as Prisoner

For the first time since Memorial Day morning two years ago, when his wife, Allene, was found dead in the bathroom of their home, David Lamson is shown in his own garden. He went from San Jose, with the jury who is hearing his second trial on wife-murder charges, to view the bathroom where Mrs. Lamson was found dead. The second trial, granted by the State Supreme Court, is nearing a close.

Just a Trifle Shy of Dionne Mark

A little short of the Dionne mark, but well-satisfied with her achievement, Mrs. Irvin Schmidt here is saying good morning to her triplets—two boys and a girl—as they lie contentedly in a Los Angeles maternity hospital. Beside them is the nurse, Mrs. Ella Latimer, who offers that consoling report, "Mother and babies doing well."

Back to Films for Raquel

Almost a year of married life has proved a little too long away from the films for Raquel Torres, enchanting Mexican actress, shown above. So her husband, Stephen Ames, who had been divorced from Adrienne Ames, went back to Hollywood with her, and you'll see her soon in a new picture. Ames will stay close to her in Hollywood this time, a lesson he learned from his former marriage, when he was in New York and Adrienne in Hollywood.

Wins U.S. Beauty Honor by a Neck

Perish the thought that science has turned to necking, because it's all in the interest of better sculpture. That's the most beautiful throat and neck in America which Prof. Frederick Schweigart, world-famed sculptor, is giving his undivided attention. So he'll use Miss Cynthia Ricketts as his model for several pieces of statuary which will grace the world's fair in San Diego, Calif.

MATCHED, BY THEIR LOOKS! Tarred, Feathered; Says Mistake

Cupid jumped the gun in Hollywood's newest romance, when Eleanor Bayley and Eddie Foy just couldn't wait for June to roll around, to be married. The pretty blond actress and her handsome mate, an assistant dance director, are shown here after the ceremony which June will have a hard time matching for loveliness.

"It was a case of mistaken identity; I never saw them before," Stanley Waters, Seattle garage owner, told authorities after he appeared at a station 28 miles from his garage to say that three men, one armed, lured him from his plant by a phone call, took him to an isolated spot and forced him to smear creosote and feathers from his waist up. He was burned by the application.

Mrs. Hauptmann Passes the Hat

Greeted by a sensational ovation, Mrs. Anna Hauptmann appealed to a mass meeting of 5000 Germans in New York City for funds to carry out the appeal for Bruno Hauptmann, convicted of murdering the Lindbergh baby. She's pictured with one of the collection cans inscribed: "That Truth and Justice May Triumph—Patrick Henry."

Twin Marines Win Twin Sisters

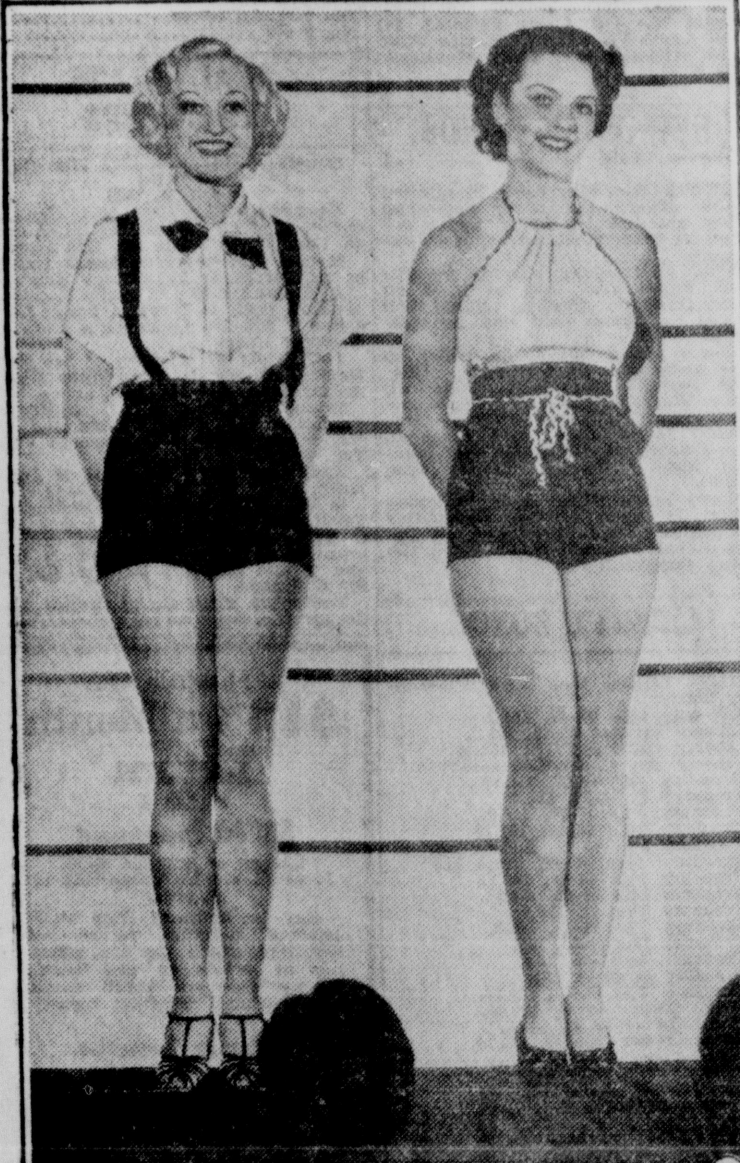

Fifty-two pairs of male twins have proposed to Louise May and Lois Maud Coates, 22-year-old Seattle, Wash., twins, but after carefully considering the matter of husbands they decided to wed Ray Alvin and Roy Calvin Sebring, U. S. Marines stationed at San Diego. Thus they return to their first loves, for the two pairs of twins were sweethearts in Onieda, Kas., years ago.

She's Too Shy to Sue Sally Rand

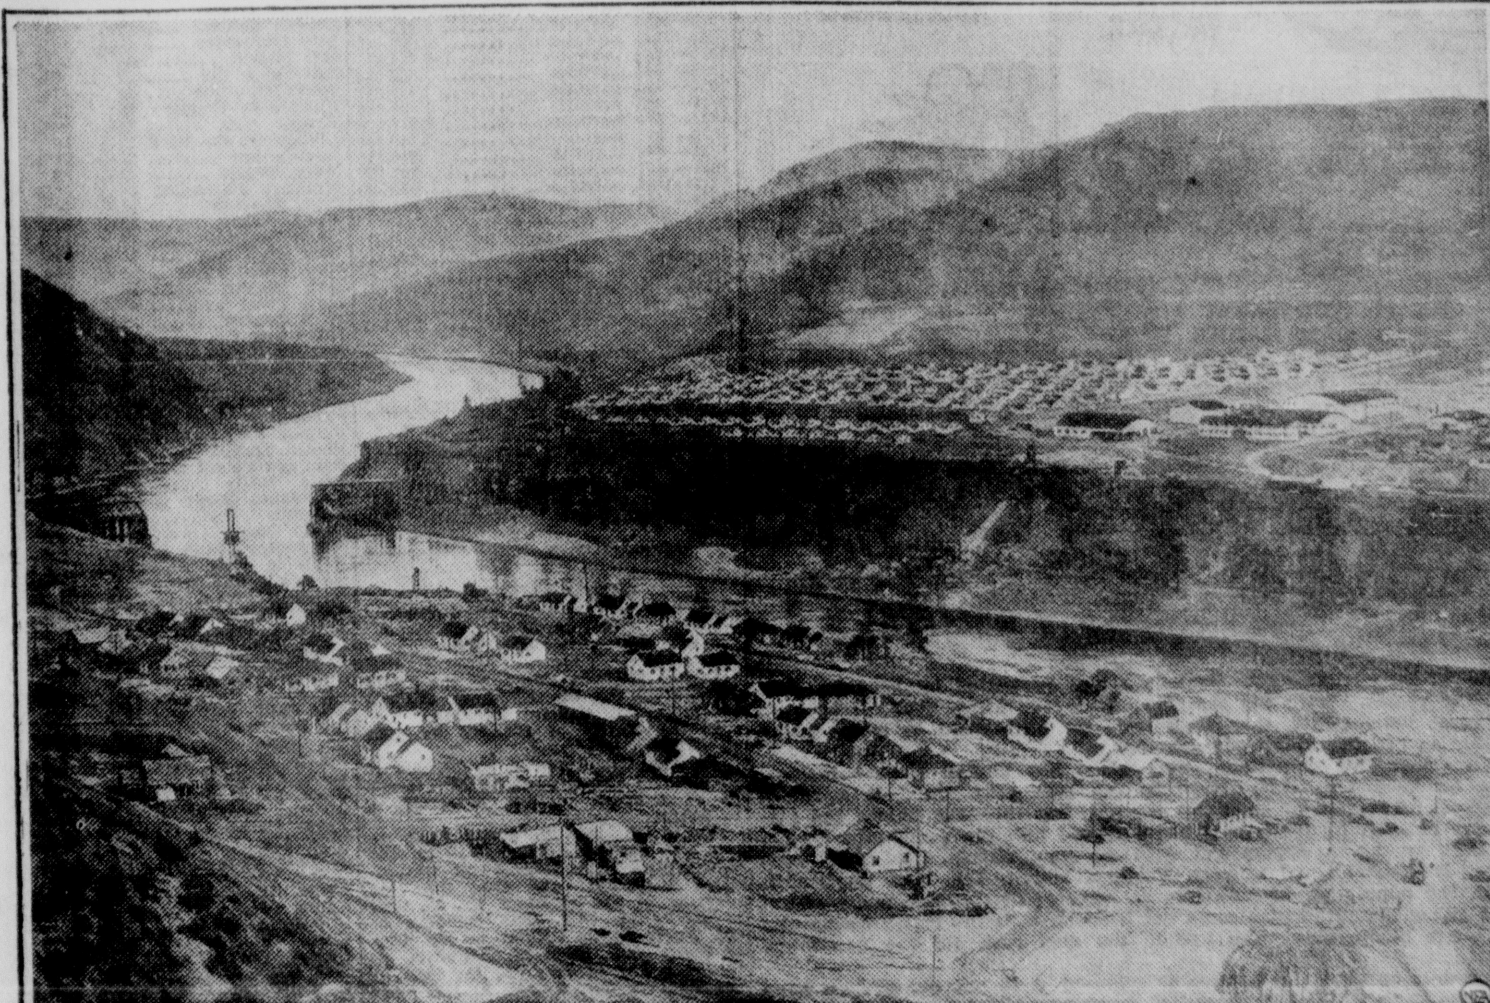

Oh, why is the lady hiding behind the bubble? Sh-h-h, don't alarm her; she's shy. Shy? Oh, terribly, painfully shy is Rosita Royce, who timidly says she's the only bubble dancer who wears no costume at all, but that she'd never, never think of suing Sally Rand, even if Rosita did copyright the idea last year. A Sunday school girl from Kansas City, she shyly says she thought of the balloon-dance when she was only 10—but has been too shy to come right out and say so until now.

'Line Up,' but Not for Cops

Police have nothing to do with this unique lineup of beauties, except that they gave the idea to Dave Gould, Hollywood dance director. Ha Lee, left, and Barbara Hubbard show how it works. They stand under glaring lights, before their judges just as criminals do before detectives and possible identifiers, but in this case, the girls are there to be picked for chorus jobs.

A City With No Smoke Evil, No Chimneys! Coulee Dam Is Reason

Three thousand people live in the new city seen here on the far side of the Columbia river in Washington. But there's no smoke, and not even a chimney in the whole town. It's Mason City, erected below the Grand Coulee Dam to house the dam builders. The town, whose two principal streets are Roosevelt and Ickes avenues, was built with PWA funds, and will be permanent. With its landscaped homes, combined theater and church, hospital, recreation hall, airport and baseball diamond, Mason City is a far cry from the shantytowns that used to house construction workers.

A FINE OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME HOME-MINDED

There has probably been no program of a single enterprise that has enlisted a greater number of interests than the housing exhibit which is being planned for Santa Ana the fore part of June.

Los Angeles is conducting the same kind of an exhibition starting the 18th of this month.

It is an enterprise, in which all that goes to make up a home, including the land, the materials of which the building is made, the building itself, including fixtures, and the furnishings of every department of the home, from the spare "parlor" to the service kitchen, will be shown to the advantage of both the merchant and the one interested either in building, repairing, enlarging or equipping his home.

The Federal Housing officials are greatly interested in the affair as it helps them to emphasize to the people the manner in which the federal government is equipped to aid them in their plans.

It is a fine opportunity for all concerned to present such an exhibition to the people of Orange county as to cause them in a great deal larger degree to be home-minded.

We have the beaches, the mountains and the desert. We have our wonderful climate and infinite opportunities for recreation. But we have no doubt that all thoughtful people have sometimes felt that we have not been properly emphasizing the comfort, the satisfaction and the pure joy that can be gained from and in the home.

It is there, after all, where we spend a great portion of our lives. It is there where we obtain rest and establish relationships, develop character, observe the rules of health, and where we enjoy all the comforts and the finest blessings that material things can give us.

To furnish and beautify the institution of home is one of the great services of the world. We were passing through an emporium at Christmas time and we saw equipment for the kitchen that we not only didn't have in our home, but we didn't even know existed. We want our home to be up-to-date and have the modern equipment.

This visit alone, of just an hour, added to our information and education. We wonder if there aren't many as uninformed in regard to these matters as we were.

We recall a story of a colored man speaking of his minister and comparing him with the other preacher whom this new man had displaced. "Why," he said "this here preacher asks the Lord for things that the other preacher didn't know the Lord had."

This exhibit will bring to the attention, in an ocular manner, materials for buildings, for refrigeration, for cooking, for rest, for insulation, for heating, for the bathroom, the kitchen, the dining room and lighting and all the rest that many people do not know exist. It will supply wants and undoubtedly create new ones.

PATMAN BONUS BILL NOW BEFORE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

The Patman bonus bill has now passed both houses of congress and will be placed before the President for his approval or disapproval.

This bill provides for the issuing of 2201 million dollars in cash to the ex-service men. It is an average of about $500 apiece. This is to be paid in currency issued by the government.

It really amounts to an inflation. Two billion dollars and more would be added to the currency of the country. This would be the addition of about $17 per capita in the circulating media of the country.

If we have about $43 per capita now, it would be inflating our currency about 40 per cent. This would be a flood of money, let loose upon the country, that would undoubtedly force up all prices.

It would be a tremendous boon for everyone who has more to sell than he has to buy. For those whose income is fixed, in terms of dollars, it might be little short of a tragedy.

In fact, it is easily conceivable that if this bill became a law that there are many ex-service men who would receive their bonus, and would have to pay out more this coming year in what they purchase, as an increase, by reason of this inflation, than the total amount that they would receive as a bonus.

To be sure, prices have not risen as the economists expected them to do in this country, at times when we have inflated, such as when we decreased the gold content of the dollar. It had only a serious effect in the foreign markets, in increasing the price of the money of other nations, so that purchases with the American dollar in other countries handicapped the dollar.

It may be possible that the increase will not be as great here, even if this bill should become a law, as the financiers believe it will.

Another danger, of course, that many feel would occur, is that prices would "skvrocket" in such a manner that further inflation would be necessary and the whole matter would get beyond control.

It was this particular point that Senator McAdoo addressed himself to before the senate yesterday. He discounted any such danger and undoubtedly affected some votes, for he has considerable influence and his position, as Secretary of the Treasury under the Wilson administration, clothes him with the experience which would affect many as he would speak upon this subject.

It is expected that the President will veto the bill. There were not enough votes in the senate to pass it over his veto. And it is very probable that his veto message will be of such a character as to lessen the votes rather than increase them, both in the house and senate.

A compromise will thus be made necessary and some predict that this will defeat all bonus legislation. We seriously doubt this. The bonus leaders will get together and agree on the best that the President will sign now.

GOVERNMENT MORTGAGES

The total of government real estate mortgages, already made or in the process of being made, is now nine billions of dollars.

The total money loaned in Orange county on real estate is approximately seven millions of dollars. Hundreds of homes and ranches have been saved for their owners in this county alone.

The magnitude of these loans is better realized when compared with the total assets of American life insurance companies, which now amount to 22 billions of dollars.

While the Frazier-Lemke amendment to the National Bankruptcy act, together with various state moratoria on farm lands, has practically suspended the making of farm mortgages by insurance companies, such mortgages as are still held by them now appear to be very desirable. Many of these mortgages are in states where a moratorium of more or less effectiveness is in force.

In referring to farm mortgages held by life insurance companies, Mr. Robbins, manager and general counsel for the American Life Insurance convention, predicted that "the extraordinary hazards encountered by agriculture in the past 10 years will not return for many years. In the event of inflation, farm properties would constitute the most tangible assets a life insurance company could possess. With the return of even a degree of normal conditions, they will be a source of profit rather than a loss."

What can be said for the mortgages held by insurance companies can also be said of the mortgages held by the government, namely, that they are safe investments.

The farms and homes of millions of people have been saved for the owners by the operation of the government lending agencies. For every borrower helped directly by the government, several others have been helped indirectly, because the lending policy of the government made money and credit easier and the unjust mortgage holder was denied the opportunity to squeeze the borrower.

There is no question but that the campaign for the relief of the distressed farmers has, up to the present time, been a great success. Rarely has a government been of greater help to its people.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT PRAISED

The hospitality and friendliness of Santa Ana citizens have received fine recognition in the form of a letter received by the city council from the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce.

The particular occasion which caused the letter to be sent was the annual Tournament of Plays sponsored by the Santa Ana Community players, in which groups from all over the Southland were participants and guests in this community for several days.

Santa Ana is outstanding in its spirit of friendliness, a fact that has long been noted by newcomers. It is evident in the greetings exchanged on the streets as people pass; it is evident in the stores, shops and offices; it is evident in its fine schools and churches; it is verified in the recent report of a Carnegie Foundation worker that this city has 40 per cent more organizations than any other city of similar size in the United States.

It also is evident in the way citizens come from all parts of the county to trade here. They like the treatment they receive from the Santa Ana merchants and the friendly spirit in which they are served.

It is pleasant to receive such commendation as the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce sent. It is even more pleasant to live in a community that warrants such heart-warming praise as that carried in the following paragraph of the letter which the council received:

It seems that your city and its people is imbued with that 'something' that makes communities outstanding, that fine civic spirit which we all admire and strive for.

Progress is Great Stimulus to Inventions

Pasadena Star-News

Announcement from Washington, April 30, that the 2,000,000th patent had been issued by the United States Patent Office may help the average person to realize what a really tremendous bureau this feature of the American Government has become. The individual is likely to classify inventors into two classes, the misguided persons who spend their days trying to make perpetual motion machines, and such men as Whitney and his cotton gin, Morse and his telegraph, McCormick and the reaper, or Edison and the incandescent light.

As a matter of fact, among the two million patents which have been issued, there are inventions which run the entire gamut of imagination from gigantic cranes that will lift a locomotive to tiny scales that will weigh a pencil dot on a sheet of paper. Every branch of science has been invaded and today it is even possible to patent a flower or fruit tree.

It is interesting to note that a board of patent examiners recently selected the 10 best outstanding patents of comparatively recent times. The patents named were the electric furnace, steam turbine, internal combustion motor, moving pictures, airplanes, fireless vacuum tube, induction motor, linotype and electric welding.

The American patent law, long regarded among the nations of the world as a model, was brought into existence under an act of Congress signed by George Washington on April 10, 1790. The first patent was granted three months later to one Samuel Hopkins of Vermont on a process of making pot and pearl ashes.

Compared with the 2,000,000 patents issued in this country, the aggregate of patents issued in all of Europe is approximately 2,000,000. Americans, therefore, may be justified in believing that inventive genius has fared exceedingly well in this young Republic, and that American inventors have played a heroic role in lightning the burdens of man as well as in adding to his esthetic enjoyments.

Fun In the Emergency Ward

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE WATER BABY

We are worried a lot about Tommy:
His mother's afraid he is mad,
His father insists he is barmy
And growls, "What's come over the lad?"
He wears not a shoe or a stocking
Unless they are forced on his feet;
His mother declares it is shocking
And dad's words I dare not repeat.
Every day he makes graver the family woes
By refusing to wear any regular "clothes".

For hour long after long hour
This very decided young man
Sits under a chill biting shower
And stays there as long as he can.
His bath, he contends, is his ocean,
In its waters he flounders about,
And makes a prodigious commotion
When we tell him he just must come out.
Were he only permitted to have his own way
He'd live in that bathtub throughout the whole day.

We fear, when the urchin grows larger
And possesses more leg length and reach,
He will hunt out a job on a barge, or
Be a life-saver down on the beach.
For if he is not in the water,
He is glum and dejected and sad,
For his is the soul of an utter—
An utter gone hopelessly mad.
But perhaps he may some day snap out of it all;
He will not be two and a half till next fall.

Thoughts On Modern Life

SOME RECOVERY QUESTIONS

I have today been reviewing the points of view I have been expressing on the national struggle for recovery during the last two years. As I pointed out yesterday, I expressed these points of view before events had schooled us as pointedly as they now have, and I now raise some of those issues in the light of our latest developments.

I find that from time to time during the last two years I have, in one way or another, asked the following questions:

Can we spread buying power by raising wages if at the same time we absorb the new money in the pay envelope by artificially jacking up prices?

Can we finance a broader social justice on a narrower national income?

Can we advance business recovery by forcing into the banks large amounts of new money and new credit when large surplus money and credit already there lie idle? Can we expand the consumption of food by taxing food products and paying the money so raised to the farmer?

Can we meet the problem of debt and economic paralysis by creating more debt, spending more money and levying more taxes or does permanent productive activity require creative conditions conducive to added production first and then tackling the problem of the relation of public expenditures (aside from relief and well-timed, well-planned public works within our clear power to finance) to the ups and downs of private enterprise?

Can we set the law of supply and demand aside by legislation and create a system that is really workable by having government undertake to determine both supply and demand?

These questions go to the root of the problem of recovery.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

USING MONEY

Children learn early that money can be used for pleasant ends. It buys sweets for one thing and toys for another. Before long, as their experiences widen, they learn that it buys friends. Children are not discriminating in their friendships. A smile and a grateful word are as welcome from one as from another. They live very much on the surface and in the present moment.

All this tends to make the use of money a bit of a problem for thoughtful parents. If the child is allowed to buy sweets he is likely to buy the wrong sort, and too much of it. If he is given money as he asks for it to buy toys and treats for his friends, he becomes extravagant and gains no notion of the value of the money he is using. Yet the children must learn these values by first hand experiences.

Each child ought to have an allowance the very week he begins to ask for a penny. He must be rationed or the pennies will flow out in an ever increasing stream with ever increasing difficulties for the parents and neighbors. When the child discovers that his two pennies handed him on Monday morning are to be all he is to get until the next Monday he learns the first lesson on the use of money. Once it is spent it is gone. After the spending there comes an emptiness. Let him get that firmly set in his mind and the rest in going to be easier.

The allowance increases with the age and experience and the judgment of the child. Some form of accounting must accompany the allowance so that the child learns to keep accurate records of getting and spending. The record is in itself a great force for conservation. It acts also as a corrective. The too stingy child, or the too generous one, can see a picture of his financial ways, an accurate one, which informs him what manner of person he is. The record speaks to his eye and his conscience while the voice of the anxious adult speaks only to his ear.

Most of the difficulty comes in the years of adolescence. The young people have adult desires without adult experience and power. They want the pleasures that money can buy. They want the feeling of power that spending gives them. Their lack of experience sets their scheme out of balance. They make mistakes, some of them annoying, some of them serious.

Buyers of Michigan's apple crop contracted for whole orchards in 1933.
No Ohioan has ever been elected vice president, although six native sons have served as president of the United States.
In 1932, the average monthly old age pension was $19.31; in 1931 it was $18.89.
American paper money will fold 5000 times, by actual test, without cracking or breaking.
Average teaching life of the individual is six years, according to the National Education Association.
The drouth of last summer affected more of the United States than any other previously known.

them serious. It is rather late to begin teaching the use and value of money to an adolescent child. That teaching should have been done in the years preceding adolescence. The young people should arrive at these years with a fairly complete background of earning, spending, conserving and saving.

But suppose they haven't had this training. What then? Do your best to make up for it. Initiate the young people into the secrets of the budget. Set aside their share of it and supervise their use of it until then can manage alone. Do not give a bank account and a check book to a young person who has never spent a dollar thoughtfully in his life. Do not allow a young worker to spend all he earns upon himself without reference to family obligations.

Begin with the little ones. A sound training in the early years prevents many of the difficulties that beset parents and adolescent children later on. Money in itself has no meaning to children. Experience puts meaning and value into it. Education adjusts these experiences.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files 25 Years Ago Today

MAY 8, 1910

Lester Carden, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden and a student at Stanford, was suffering from an injured foot. Ligaments had been torn loose in his foot during a ball game. He was expected to reach home within a short time as the game was to close on May 18. Funeral services were held at Santa Margarita rancho for Richard O'Neal, one of the best known of the California pioneers, and former owner of one of the largest ranches in the United States. His death occurred May 7 following a stroke of apoplexy. Two of his ranch properties, Trabuco Rancho and Mission Viejo Rancho, lay in Orange county. His land interest had all been bequeathed to his son Jerome O'Neal, the previous December.
